HUEY LONG LEADER JOINS MOVEMENT

Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith
And Pension Advocate
Plot Fusion With Rev.
Coughlin's Movement.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Protesting what he described as its "unfair and unfriendly attitude," Dr. F. E. Townsend walked out of the house committee investigating his old-age pension organization late today and refused to testify again "unless under arrest."

His blunt statement, made more than an hour after he was supposed to resume the witness stand, threw the committee into an uproar. Cries of "stop him" and "close the door" followed the pension leader as he strode out.

Later the committee decided to draw up a resolution for submission to the house, recommending that Dr. Townsend be cited for contempt.

Dr. Townsend later protested against the "communistic dictatorship" in Washington.

Joined by Long Aid.
Joining with the old-age pension leader in his protest was Gerald K. Smith, head of the late Senator Huey P. Long's share-the-wealth movement.

"Without reference to any plan for recovery, we here and now join in what shall be a protest against this communistic dictatorship in Washington," they said in a statement issued through Representative Main, republican, Michigan.

"The assassination of Huey Long and the persecution of Dr. Townsend call for action."

Smith told newsmen he took Townsend to Baltimore in a taxi after they left the committee. Smith returned to Washington later, saying Townsend would remain in Baltimore for a few days.

He indicated he and Townsend would confer soon with Father

British Move Troops To Quiet Palestine

JERUSALEM, May 21.—(AP)—A battalion of British troops and an artillery battery were en route tonight from Cairo, Egypt, to Palestine, where three British soldiers and two Jews were reported wounded in a shooting affair.

The British soldiers will reinforce the present Palestine garrison of two battalions and a company of light tanks. The Jewish telegraphic agency said their arrival would bring the military forces in Palestine to 3,500, almost double the normal number.

An Arab general strike which began April 19 in protest against Jewish immigration and sale of land to Jews was reported in some quarters to be collapsing.

BRITAIN TO PUSH AIR DEFENSE PLAN

Speed-Up of Airplane Production Ordered; Baldwin Hits Interference.

LONDON, May 21.—(AP)—Great Britain officially entered the airplane manufacturing business tonight.

Sir Thomas W. H. Inskip, minister of defense co-ordination, disclosed to the house of commons the government was subsidizing extension of private automobile factories to speed up plane production for the royal air force.

Earlier, the members cheered a strong warning from Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin that Great Britain would not tolerate foreign interference in Egypt and Palestine.

The government, Baldwin asserted, "would regard as an unfriendly act any attempt at interference in Egypt and Palestine."

Factors Disclosed.
Inskip, in his first long speech before the commons since taking over the defense post, disclosed these factors of shipping entered the lower Thames during 1935 while the goods passing through the port aggregated 40,885,825 tons, a new all-time record.

Food Conservation.
Inskip described conservation of food as an important question and called on all persons interested in improvement of food to co-operate with the defense committee.

At the same time, the port of London authority announced an improvement program estimated to cost 12,000,000 pounds ($80,000,000). The port statement said 60,000,000 tons of shipping entered the lower Thames during 1935 while the goods passing through the port aggregated 40,885,825 tons, a new all-time record.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, former personal secretary to the war minister, criticized Inskip for what he called "vagueness" in the government's actual rearmament plans. He asked Inskip to "unseal your lips on some subjects which you have referred to as confidential."

"The government should tell us frankly and dispassionately the truth as they know it about German rearmament and the true dangers in the air," he said.

Further criticism came from Winston Churchill.

25 PER CENT HIKE IN TAXON INCOMES BEATEN BY SOLONS

Harrison Bursts Blood
Vessel During Heated Debate Preceding Approval of Compromise.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(UP)—The rebellious senate finance committee today scrapped a proposal to increase normal income taxes 25 per cent in the $500,000,000 revenue bill and then accepted a weakened corporate profits tax compromise embracing only a skeleton of President Roosevelt's original plan.

There was no record vote on the decision to discard suggestions for an increase in the normal income rate from 4 to 5 per cent which would have taken an additional $175,000,000 from persons in all walks of life.

Chairman Pat Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, said opposition in committee to such a revision was "substantial."

Vote 18 to 1.
The vote on the corporate tax compromise was 18 to 1. Senator James Couzens, silver-plumed, multi-millionaire republican, was the only dissenter.

Adoption of the compromise was forced by a revolting group of conservative democrats led by Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, and republicans.

United committee support of the compromise was assured when Harrison told the group that he would not offer harsher rates from the floor as a substitute.

Senator Robert La Follette, progressive republican, Wisconsin, was the only dissenter.

FRANCE TO KEEP TROOPS IN AFRICA

Paris Terms Expulsion of Priest 'Unacceptable';
Protest 'Seems Likely.'

PARIS, May 21.—(AP)—The French government termed the expulsion of a French priest from Ethiopia by Italian forces "unacceptable" tonight and announced it would protest to Rome.

The government likewise refused to withdraw troops from Diredawa, Ethiopia, despite an Italian request, or to permit Italian troops to be shifted to other parts of Ethiopia.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, acting foreign minister, called the expulsion from Ethiopia of Monsignor Andre Jarousseau, 75-year-old head of Roman Catholic missions there and "apostle of lepers," "unacceptable."

An authoritative source said a protest is being withheld until the order is officially confirmed.

Officials also awaited the pope's reaction, saying international law requires the Vatican's consent for the replacement of missionaries.

Lee Case Will Reach Jury In U. S. District Court Today

Accused "Earl of Pelham" To Make Argument When Court Opens This Morning; Assistant District Attorney
Andrews Opens for Government.

By LAMAR Q. BALL.
A jury that has sat patiently in United States district court for approximately three weeks sighted and heard the government's case today.

The trial has reached the argument stage. Yesterday Assistant United States Attorney M. Neil Andrews used one hour of the prosecution's time and W. George Thomas, arguing for Smith, used a half-hour of the defense time.

This morning Lee will argue for an hour and a half in his own defense and United States Attorney Lawrence S. Camp will argue for the remaining hour of the government's time. Then Judge William H. Barrett will charge the jury and the speeches and the objections will have ended.

To Jury Today.
The jury will retire then about 1 p. m. today to decide the fate of Lee and Smith.

Neil Andrews, arguing for the government yesterday, brought the trial down to a human point.

A blackboard was erected before the jury and Andrews walked over and wrote down a problem in arithmetic to prove that the whole theory of the B. R. Bradley organization was wrong.

"Anyone who has reached the fourth grade in school will recognize this," said Andrews as he stepped back from his chalkboard.

Then he borrowed a walking stick from J. Murphy Boon, one of the jurors, and using this as a ferrule, spoke simply to the jury in third-grade language to prove it was impossible for any corporation to operate as Bradley attempted to operate his companies.

Involved Problem.
It was a rather involved problem that Andrews illustrated for a third-grade audience but he worked it out to show this:

Bradley's salesmen were paid, as a commission, $6.25 for every $100 they brought in. The company charged the customer only 8 per cent of the net profits.

He illustrated in a series of figures

RAIL MANAGEMENT AND LABOR AGREE TO VOTE FOR F.D.R.

Agreement Calls for Dismissal Compensation
Under Co-ordination Act.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—One of the railroad industry's knottiest problems was untangled today when representatives of management and labor reported to President Roosevelt they had agreed on a broad scheme of "dismissal wages" for workmen displaced because of railroad consolidations.

Final signatures were placed on the voluntary accord at dawn this morning following a series of conferences between the two groups which had continued off and on since last February.

There, the rebels explained, they feared administration pressure would force passage of an even more drastic plan. Sharp revisions in the compromise still may be made in conference between the two houses after the fight to the floor.

DETECTIVES GRILL CONVICT-SUSPECT IN GUYOL MURDER

Birmingham Bullet Clue
May Bring Solution of Year-Old Mystery Death of Local 'Numbers King.'

Solution of the mysterious year-old murder of Edward L. (Eddie) Guyol, Atlanta number racket king, was believed near yesterday by Atlanta and Birmingham police as they worked feverishly to draw together the ends of a net under which they have been working for six months.

It was established yesterday that a man, believed to be the key man in the murder investigation, is being questioned at length by Detective Lieutenant E. C. McCrary here and a second man, who is expected to aid in the unraveling of the mystery, also is in custody.

The man undergoing questioning at police headquarters is a convict who was sent up for a holdup committed a few months after Guyol was killed.

Based on Ballistics.
Although the police were not inclined to discuss the situation, it was established they are traveling on a theory they can trace the gun which killed Guyol. The gun, they believe, was obtained in Birmingham where the man under questioning here resided, off and on. It was learned the gun in question was fired several times at a target near Birmingham and that ballistic experts say the pellet taken from that target is like the one removed from Guyol's body.

Late last night Assistant Solicitor General E. A. Stephens questioned three men brought here by the Birmingham police but if anything was learned from these men it was not announced.

Announcement Soon.
Lieutenant McCrary late yesterday declined to discuss the progress of the investigation.

He said he had a definite announcement shortly, indicating that when that announcement was made the entire mystery will be cleared up.

Advice from Birmingham yesterday said an Atlanta lawyer, who was aiding the police in the investigation, had been in that city Wednesday night discussing various phases of the case.

ALLEN AND LOVETT TO SEE F.D.R. TODAY

Conferences Begun on Selection of Georgia's Convention Delegation.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, May 21.—Preliminary conferences looking to the selection of the state of Georgia delegates to the national convention, which will be held in Chicago, were started here today with the arrival in Washington of Marion H. Allen, of Milledgeville, and Judge A. B. Lovett, of Savannah, manager and chairman, respectively, of the Roosevelt campaign committee in the state.

Manager Allen and Judge Lovett conferred informally during the day with Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. together with members of the Georgia delegation after a previous meeting with Assistant Postmaster General Harlee Branch, who received them in the absence of Postmaster General James A. Farley, the national party chairman.

Meet Farley Today.
Chairman Farley is scheduled to return tomorrow and further confer with the Georgia delegation.

While the two Roosevelt managers came to Washington armed with a list of leading democrats of the state,

Prominent Muscogee Dairyman Will Oppose Tom Linder in State Primary.

Picture in Page 14.
Formal announcement of his candidacy for commissioner of agriculture was made yesterday by Columbus Roberts, Muscogee county farmer, dairyman and merchant. Mr. Roberts will oppose Commissioner Tom Linder in the September primary.

The candidacy of Mr. Roberts has been widely urged for nearly a year. He ran for the office two years ago and, although defeated, made a creditable showing in his first race for a public office.

Mr. Roberts is president of the Georgia Milk Producers Confederation, an association of dairymen which he organized. Under his leadership the milk producing industry in Georgia has been elevated to a high plane and farmers have shown an increased interest in their investments in dairy cattle.

The Columbus man is one of Georgia's best-known Baptist laymen and one of the state's heaviest contributors to religious and educational purposes, having made large gifts to Mercer University at Macon, and Bessie Tift College at Forsyth, as well as to other institutions of learning and to numerous churches.

Mr. Roberts recently returned from St. Louis where he attended the meeting of the Southern Baptist convention. He said yesterday at Columbus that he had been unable to make an outline of his platform because of his presence at the St. Louis convention but that he would have it ready in a few days. It is understood that much damage was caused in floods to the organization of the department of agriculture and for a general educational program looking to improvement of rural and tenancy farm conditions throughout the state.

Mr. Roberts served two terms as a Muscogee county member of the general assembly and in that short time rose to leadership in the house of representatives.

The Columbus candidate is expected to open headquarters in Atlanta shortly and to announce his campaign organization.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(UP)—The United States Tariff Commission today announced President Roosevelt's approval of tariff increases averaging 42 per cent on cotton textiles of types which recently have been imported chiefly from Japan, the largest importer of American cotton in the world.

The tariff increases marked a breakdown in official negotiations which had aimed to solve the situation by a "gentleman's agreement" with Japan whereby that country would voluntarily limit exports of cloths whose competition has antagonized the New England textile industry and provoked widespread political repercussions.

What Affected.
The increases announced today, to take effect June 20, are applicable to bleached, printed, dyed or colored cotton cloths containing yarns exceeding 30 but not exceeding 50, and the rates are levied on a graduated ad valorem basis.

The cloths on which duties are changed constituted about 50 per cent of the total cotton cloth yardage imported in 1935 and about 90 per cent of the cotton cloths imported from Japan in that year.

The increase in rates does not affect unbleached cloth nor cloth woven with eight or more harnesses, or with jacquard, lappet, or swivel attachments.

The changes in rates were recommended by the tariff commission after a findings on difference of domestic and foreign costs of production under Section 336 of the tariff act of 1930. The investigation was instituted by

Paul Doyal and Aid Seriously Injured

McRae, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—Paul H. Doyal, member of the state revenue commission, and J. C. Fossett, of the state revenue commission's income tax division, both of Atlanta, were seriously injured late this afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a truck belonging to a McRae wholesale grocery company.

Mr. Doyal as rushed to a hospital in Hialeah for treatment of serious head injuries. Mr. Fossett was brought to McRae in an unconscious condition.

Late tonight Hialeah hospital authorities reported that the condition of Mr. Doyal was "serious" and that he still was in a "semi-conscious" state.

Cobb Says: War Is Now Over

By IRVIN S. COBB.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American News-Publication, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 21.—When the postoffice department includes among the gallery of the greatest Americans, to be pictured in the new issue of memorial stamps, the faces of the Confederate chieftains, Lee and Jackson, what happens?

"Nobly waves the bloody shirt," nobody ennobles the sorry word "traitor" by applying it to the memories of those two gallant soldiers and simple Christian gentlemen. Nobody in the name of patriotism drags the mouldering bones of sectional rancor out of the ground. Nobody beats the "Rogue's March for Rebels" on hate's anvil.

Instead, all over the union, men and women applaud this generous but merited gesture. A leading paper of Boston—Boston, no less, once the mulching-bed of abolition and the breeding-ground for anti-southern sentiment editorially commends the idea.

Ladies and gentlemen, the man who takes pleasure in announcing that the Civil War is now over.

BOSTON, May 21.—(UP)—An unidentified young girl was prevented from leaping to her death from an open cockpit airplane at east Boston airport late today when Pilot Charles Sutherland struck her on the jaw with his fist and held her in bare cockpit as he grounded the plane with one hand.

The girl, described as between 19 and 20 years of age and a familiar figure in the new issue of memorial stamps, the faces of the Confederate chieftains, Lee and Jackson, what happens?

Husband Confesses 'Holdup Man' Slaying

ORIGON, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Ogle county authorities claimed a completed solution tonight of the "ragged holdup man" slaying of Mrs. Bessie Talmadge, announcing that her husband, Guy M. Talmadge, a 58-year-old undertaker's assistant, had confessed the crime.

He blamed it on marital trouble, said a statement from the office of Prosecutor S. Donald Crowell, who gave out the word of the confession after Talmadge had been subjected to an all-day questioning, part of the same it expected to take place with him today.

Crowell said that Talmadge, member of a prominent family in this vicinity, had stuck to his original story that he and his wife were halted at a highway intersection near here Tuesday night by a shabby stranger who robbed them and shot her, until confronted with the story of Mrs. Frances Birch, attractive 30-year-old widow. Then, they said, he admitted the holdup man was a fabrication and that he shot his wife.

FIVE CLEVELANDERS NAMED IN RAIL SUIT

CLEVELAND, May 21.—(AP)—Guy N. Thompson, trustee for the Missouri Pacific railroad, filed suit in federal court today against five Clevelanders for $3,200,000, allegedly lost to the railroad through interlocking directorships of the Allegheny Corporation and Terminal Share, Inc.

Bradley, John Serwin Jr. and George A. Tompkinson.

Allegheny Corporation, the petition states, acquired the railroad through a stock control plan that caused losses to Terminal Share and the latter company saddled the losses on the Missouri Pacific railroad.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Agriculture department officials said today that more than $750,000 will be refunded to farmers and country livestock buyers by commission men at the Chicago stockyards as a result of a supreme court decision Monday. The court upheld an order by Secretary Wallace reducing commission rates at the Chicago market.

The refund, which had been impounded by the court, represents the difference between the rates charged by commission men and the reduced rates ordered January 8, 1934, by Wallace.

BULLET IS REMOVED FROM BROKER'S SON
NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—The bullet which seriously wounded Jesse Livermore Jr., 15, last November, was removed today from under his right shoulder blade by Dr. John J. Moorehead at Postgraduate hospital.
The boy was shot by his mother, Mrs. Dorothea F. Wendt Livermore, at Santa Barbara, Cal. She was later absolved and the shooting called accidental.
Livermore's condition was described at the hospital today as "favorable."

Italy Considers Trade Agreements With Sanctionist Nations Cancelled

ROME, May 21.—(AP)—Italy considers all her trade treaties with sanctionist nations cancelled and her foreign trade "must change its direction," an authoritative source declared today.

This view was taken by Virginio Gayda, informed writer of the Giornale D'Italia and a friend of Premier Mussolini.

"Fifty-two sanctionist states introduced in a system of commercial records a new unilateral practice of arrogating to themselves the arbitrary privilege of opening and closing the faucets of trade with Italy," he wrote.

"Commercial treaties with sanctionist countries have been in fact annulled by the initiative of sanctionists. They must therefore be considered a nullity and the subject of radical revision."

News that Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the African armies and later made viceroy of Ethiopia, had started home to receive a Roman triumph gave fresh impetus to popular Italian faith in the recreation of the glories of the ancient empire.

Badoglio arrived by airplane at Asmara, Eritrea, from Addis Ababa to receive an enthusiastic reception. He will probably sail from Massawa Monday and lead a triumphant march through the ancient arch of Constantine June 7 when Italy will jointly observe "constitution day" and its annexation of Ethiopia.

Amid the pomp of the welcome Badoglio will take time for long conferences with Premier Mussolini on the military situation in Europe as well as in Africa. Informed circles said, however, they believed no important new decisions will be taken.

The "color line" in Ethiopia was drawn today by the influential newspaper, Il Messaggero, which said "the fascist empire cannot be an empire of mulattoes."

A front page, two-column editorial said the examples of southern countries showed "the formation of a hybrid population arouses serious preoccupation among some leaders of government and science."

The paper urged that many white women be sent to Ethiopia to colonize and the formation of strictly white settlements.

ATLANTA-TO-MONROE PAVING WORK SOUGHT

Completion of the paving of the Atlanta to Monroe highway was urged upon Governor Talmadge and the state highway board by a large delegation of residents of DeKalb, Gwinnett and Walton counties, headed by former Senator Emmett Williams, of Monroe.

Senator Williams pointed out that the road provides the only unimproved highway out of Atlanta and declared that the stretches in Walton and Gwinnett counties are the only ones unpaved on the route from Charleston, S. C., to Memphis.

The matter of paving the road was taken under advisement.

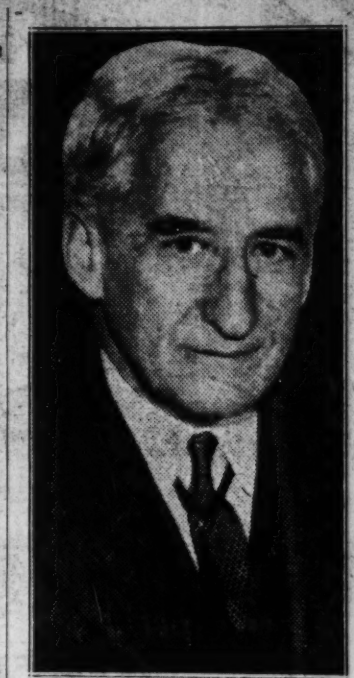

The highway board yesterday received formal notice from Washington that the federal government has released Georgia's $17,000,000 road fund. Projects to be paid for out of this fund already are under way.

Trade Good as Atlanta Weather, Says Gerard Swope, Visitor Here

Nationally Famous Executive Sees Business Restored on Firmer Basis.

Whether or not Atlanta and surrounding territory is the most prosperous and contented section of the country, the beautiful spring weather and benign climate make it appear so, according to Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, who was a visitor here yesterday.

"You Atlantans are apparently enjoying this marvelous spring without realizing how delightful it really is," declared Mr. Swope. "I've been about over the country recently and this is the most delightful and beautiful spot I've seen."

GERARD SWOPE.

"It is hard to think of business in this kind of air, but when business is as good as it is, it is delightful to think about also. Every line of trade and industry has regained practically its 'boom day' status, but on a firmer basis. My company and several other large concerns are now employing more people than ever before in history. That speaks volumes on the condition of the country."

Mr. Swope is visiting Atlanta as the guest of E. H. Ginn, district manager of the General Electric Company here, who gave a dinner in Mr. Swope's honor last night. Their talk in Mr. Ginn's office yesterday fairly bulged with optimism and satisfaction.

Asked if American business is now being carried on a basis which would prevent future depressions, Mr. Swope said:

Firmer Business.

"There may be depressions in the future, perhaps not as bad as the recent one. But come whatever may, the thinking and guiding figures of this country have proved themselves capable of meeting any situation. Large corporations, whose collapse would really mean a degree of disaster, have gone through the depths of economic paralysis and have come through to build back a firmer and more prosperous business."

"It's just the same old determined, energetic spirit with which this country was founded. It gave us the homes, the industries and the full life we now enjoy and it will keep them for us."

D. S. BEATTIE FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Final rites for D. S. Beattie, veteran railroad and railroad equipment representative who died Tuesday in Russellville, Ky., will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, 1 Evelyn place, N. W., with the Rev. W. M. Albert officiating.

Mr. Beattie, a native of New York, served with the N. O. & St. L. railroad, was employed by the federal government as a railroad engineer during the building of the Panama canal and was later associated with the Southern Pacific and the Northern Pacific railroads.

He had been a resident of Atlanta since 1914. He was a member of Antiquity Masonic Lodge, New York; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Southwestern Railway Club.

Burial will be in Douglasville cemetery with members of the Shrine and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers conducting the rites.

MY COOKERY

By MISS RUTH CHAMBERS.

Pot Roast Makes Hit With Husband.
When your husband starts sighing for some of his mother's good cooking, choose from "You might burst into tears and wail pathetically between sobs 'I'm sorry if I can't please you, sniff, sniff—I try to do the very best I can—' and get him to retract his words in the interests of domestic peace, or—you can smile philosophically and plan to have a juicy brown pot roast for dinner. The latter usually proves more effective for it not only quiets his restive memory but sets up your stock as a cook by a big percentage.

It's the dark, well-seasoned richness of the meat that gets him, of course, to say nothing of the quantities of good brown gravy that only a pot roast can produce. And, although he may not realize the cause, he'll be pleased with the meat bill at the end of the month if you serve pot roasts often, for they use the less-tender and, less expensive cuts of meat.

Method Basically Simple.
The method of preparing any pot roast is basically the simple process of braising. That, as you know, consists of browning the meat on all sides in hot lard, adding a small quantity of liquid and seasonings, popping on a tight cover, and allowing the meat to cook very slowly until tender.

This long slow, moist cooking is what permits you to use so effectively the less-tender cuts, for it softens the connective tissue until the meat is tender.

The chuck or rump of beef are always good cuts to use, and you may ask the market man to bone and roll them for you, if you like, for easy carving. The meat must be fairly thick for superlative results, so the piece may weigh anywhere from 3 to 6 pounds.

Many Variations.
Although the method remains the same for all pot roasts, there are really dozens of excellent variations upon the themes of the liquid to be added, the seasoning, and the addition of accompanying vegetables. In an earlier column I gave you the recipes for German sauer braten and spiced pot roast, and here are a few more to add to the list.

Spanish Pot Roast.
Four pounds beef chuck, 1 small bottle of stuffed olives, 1-4 pound salt pork, 2 cups steamed tomatoes, 1 large onion, 2 tablespoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, lard.

Make small slits on each side of the meat with a sharp knife. Cut the salt pork into narrow strips, and stuff the slits with these strips, alternately with the stuffed olives. Slice the onion and the tomatoes, and add to the pot.

Pot Roast of Beef With Horseradish Sauce.
Just a quick in the seasoning makes this pot roast an unusual one.

Four pounds beef pot roast, bottom chuck roll, 1 small bottle horseradish, salt and pepper.
Brown the meat on all sides in hot lard or melted suet, and season with salt and pepper. Then drain the liquid from the pot, and pour the remainder over the pot roast. Cover snugly, lower the heat, and simmer gently until done. Turn the meat several times during the cooking so it will be all nicely flavored with the horseradish, and then watch the diner's eyes brighten when they catch the tang in the tender meat and the good gravy.

the onion and brown in hot lard, then put on the meat and brown it as well, not neglecting one bit of the surface. Add the tomatoes, cover closely and simmer until done. Strain and thicken the liquid for gravy.

Pot Roast With Prunes.
Brown a chuck pot roast in lard in a hot kettle. Season with salt and pepper, and add 2 cups of boiling water. Next put in 3 dozen prunes which you've soaked since the night before, cover, and simmer until the meat is tender. Before serving, fish out the cooked prunes and season them with sugar and lemon juice or vinegar to serve as a delicious relish for the roast, and thicken the liquid in the pot for a most unusual gravy.

Pot Roast With Vegetables.
A pot roast with vegetables is always worth talking about, so here's a recipe for one that you're sure to repeat, once you try it.

Four pounds beef chuck, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons lard, 6 small onions, 6 carrots, 6 potatoes, 1-2 bay leaf, salt and pepper.

Dredge the meat with flour and season with salt and pepper. Brown it on all sides in hot lard, add the half bay leaf and pour over it a cup of hot water. Cover and simmer slowly for about 3 hours, during the last hour of which the whole vegetables and a little more water are put in. Don't forget these two things in serving the roast—arrange the vegetables in a semblance of order and attractiveness around the meat on the platter, and under no conditions waste a drop of the delicious gravy that the thickened juices will make.

Pot Roast of Beef With Horseradish Sauce.
Just a quick in the seasoning makes this pot roast an unusual one.

Four pounds beef pot roast, bottom chuck roll, 1 small bottle horseradish, salt and pepper.

Brown the meat on all sides in hot lard or melted suet, and season with salt and pepper. Then drain the liquid from the pot, and pour the remainder over the pot roast. Cover snugly, lower the heat, and simmer gently until done. Turn the meat several times during the cooking so it will be all nicely flavored with the horseradish, and then watch the diner's eyes brighten when they catch the tang in the tender meat and the good gravy.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES

BY Sally Sawyer

Salads save time and stimulate warm weather appetites. There are salads that are so nutritious and well balanced that with the addition of a hot bread and substantial dessert they may be used as the main dish for a warm weather meal. Below are recipes for a number of these salads, also recipes for salads which may be used for parties, luncheons and every day use.

Tuna Fish Salad.
Two cups tuna fish, flaked; 1 cup chopped celery, 8 stuffed olives, chopped, salt and pepper, lettuce; 2 hard-boiled eggs, mayonnaise.

Combine tuna fish, celery and olives. Season to taste. Blend thoroughly with mayonnaise and place in refrigerator to chill. Arrange lettuce cups in a salad bowl. Put a serving of the fish mixture in each cup, top with mayonnaise and garnish with slices of hard-boiled egg.

Chicken Salad on Pineapple Rings.
Combine diced pineapple with twice as much cold diced chicken, one-quarter the quantity of shredded celery and one-quarter the quantity of chopped, salt and pepper, lettuce; 2 hard-boiled eggs, mayonnaise.

Combine tuna fish, celery and olives. Season to taste. Blend thoroughly with mayonnaise and place in refrigerator to chill. Arrange lettuce cups in a salad bowl. Put a serving of the fish mixture in each cup, top with mayonnaise and garnish with slices of hard-boiled egg.

Fruit Salad Dressing.
Four tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 tablespoons flour, 1 egg, 1-2 cup pineapple juice, 1-4 cup orange juice, 4 tablespoons vinegar.

Mix in order named and blend thoroughly after adding each ingredient. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thick, add 1 tablespoon butter, blend thoroughly, cool it and you have a wonderful cooked dressing.

Salmon Salad.
Two and a half cups cold salmon, 1-2 cups celery (cut in pieces), 12 green peas, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, mayonnaise.

Flake the salmon, discarding skin and bones. Add celery, lemon juice, salt and paprika. Stand in refrigerator to chill. Mix with enough mayonnaise to moisten well. Serve on any crisp salad greens and garnish with the shertins.

Jellied Vegetable Ring.
One tablespoon gelatine, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1-4 cup cold water, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup diced celery, 1 cup cooked peas, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 cup shredded carrots, mayonnaise.

With a little gelatine and a few left-over vegetables, you can do marvelous things. Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Add vinegar, lemon juice, salt and vegetables and mix thoroughly.

Turn into a ring mold which has been dipped in cold water. Chill. Remove from mold to salad plate. Fill center with crisp lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. This salad is cooked meats may be arranged round the jelly.

Vegetable Rings are very colorful and attractive for serving at a buffet supper, passed on a large plate or silver dish.

Stuffed Prune Salad.
Eighteen large prunes, 1-4 cup chopped nuts or coconut, peanut butter, mayonnaise.

Soak prunes in cold water over night. Dry with a soft cloth. Remove pit and fill centers with the peanut butter. Make nests of crisp lettuce and use three prunes for each serving. Sprinkle with chopped nuts and serve with mayonnaise.

Stuffed Celery Salad.
Two cups American cheese (grated), 1 bunch celery, mustard, paprika, French dressing.

Moisten the grated cheese with mustard. Separate the stalks of the celery, wash and chill thoroughly. Fill celery stalks with cheese mixture and cut into one-inch lengths. Make nests of lettuce leaves and heap celery in the centers. Sprinkle with paprika and serve with French dressing. Or cream cheese, mashed to a paste with the mustard.

Frozen Corn-and-Carrot Salad.
One and one-fourth cups of sweet corn pulp, 1 cup of thin cream, 2 eggs, beaten, 1-2 cup of grated raw ped walnuts. Slice red, unpeeled apples crosswise; remove the center of the apple and place the apple ring on the pineapple slices. Chop the apple pulp fine and blend it with the mayonnaise dressing; moisten the chicken mixture with the dressing, fill the rings, top with a spoonful of the dressing and halved walnut meat.

Salmon Salad Mold.
Two tablespoons gelatine, 1-2 cup cold water, 1-3 cup hot lemon juice, 2 cups canned red salmon flaked; 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 cup celery, finely cut; 1-4 cup green pepper, finely chopped; 1 teaspoon onion, finely chopped; 1-2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper.

Soak the gelatine in the cold water and dissolve in the hot lemon juice. Chill slightly. Add the remaining ingredients in the order given. Turn into a fish-shaped mold and chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with crisp cucumber and additional mayonnaise.

Old Virginia Salad.
One package cooked macaroni (see shells), 4 cooked beets, sliced; 1 cucumber, 2 green peppers, 1 cup peas.

Mix all together and serve with plenty of salad dressing, onion salt and paprika to taste.

Baked Bean Salad.
Mix 2 cups baked beans, 1 tablespoon chopped onion and celery with the mayonnaise. Arrange on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise and a sprig of parsley.

Dutch Potato Salad.
Three cups diced, cooked potatoes; 4 slices of bacon, 1 onion, 1-4 cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons water, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Cut bacon into small pieces. Brown onion in fat and add vinegar, water, sugar, salt and pepper. Allow to boil, then add potatoes and parsley. Heat thoroughly and serve.

Pineapple and Strawberry Salad.
One small, fresh pineapple, 1-2 cups strawberries, 1 tablespoon mint leaves (chopped), 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-4 cup vinegar.

Chill. Wash, hull and chill the strawberries. Combine the fruit and arrange on crisp lettuce of lettuce cups. Chilly, cool it and the mint and serve with fruit salad dressing. Canned pineapple may be used in this recipe.

Carrot, 1-2 teaspoonful of salt, 1 tablespoonful of sugar, 1-8 teaspoonful of paprika.

Cook fresh sweet corn with salt until the kernels are soft and mushy, or use canned corn without seasoning. Put the corn through a sieve, rubbing through all the pulp possible. Scald the cream in a double boiler, pour over the beaten eggs, return to the boiler and cook for 3 minutes, or until the mixture coats the spoon. Blend the corn and cream mixture and chill. Grate the carrots and add to the corn cream mixture. Add the seasonings and freeze for 6 hours in a mechanical refrigerator, or pack in salt and ice. One-half cupful of finely chopped almonds or 1-4 cupful of chopped pimiento may be substituted for the carrots.

Asparagus Salad.
Two tablespoonfuls of butter, 2 tablespoonfuls of flour, 1 can, or equivalent, of fresh asparagus tips, juice of 1 lemon, salt, 1 tablespoonful of gelatine, 1-4 cupful of cold water, 4 eggs, 1-2 pint of whipping cream.

Put the asparagus tips in a saucepan over hot water. Add the lemon juice and salt to taste, and the gelatine softened in cold water. Beat in the eggs and heat until thick. Cool and add the cream whipped, and the asparagus tips. Cut each tip in 3 pieces. Pour into a shallow dish and let stand in the refrigerator overnight. Cut it in squares and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Sprinkle lightly with paprika.

$2,000 WEEKS BOND FOUGHT BY BOYKIN.

Pomeroy Suspends Order, Sets Hearing on Appeal for Saturday.

A $2,000 appeal bond set for Carl Weeks, convicted burglar, by Judge E. E. Pomeroy yesterday in Fulton superior court was vigorously protested by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, who termed Weeks a "public enemy."

After Boykin filed a motion to increase the amount of bond, Judge Pomeroy suspended the previous order and set a hearing on the matter for Saturday morning.

Recently granted a full pardon by Governor Talmadge in connection with the larceny of an automobile, Weeks was found guilty of burglary of the Automobile Piston and Parts Company and possession of burglary tools Wednesday in superior court. His sentences on the two charges amounted to 23 years.

Arthur W. Powell, his attorney, filed a motion for a new trial yesterday and Judge Pomeroy set the appeal bond at $2,000.

Boykin's protest cited the fact that Weeks had been convicted of two felony charges previous to the burglary and possession of burglary tools charges, and had also been convicted and sentenced in federal courts. "His previous record shows that he will prey off the public," Boykin set forth in his motion.

ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF WILL BE BURIED TODAY.

Veteran firemen who served for many years with Assistant Chief A. B. Rogers, who died Wednesday, will serve as his pallbearers at the funeral services to be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Peachtree chapel of Brandon-Bond-Condor.

Assistant Chief Rogers, who was retired in 1932, was second only to First Assistant Chief William Butler in point of service with the department. He joined it in 1890. After numerous promotions for efficiency he was named a fire captain in 1919, holding that position until 1924.

He was retired after 42 years of service.

The Rev. W. Lee Outts is to officiate at the rites and the pallbearers will be Assistant Chiefs W. B. Fanning and William Butler, L. B. Stephens, A. L. Dunn, F. M. Brotherton, John Murrell and W. L. Quillen.

Members of the fire department and of Yaarab temple of the Shrine will serve as escorts of honor.

Burial will be in Decatur cemetery with members of Blue Lodge No. 59 Masons in charge.

WILLIAM H. ALBRIGHT FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL.

William H. Albright, 48, was found dead in his room at a local hotel at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Discovery of the body was made by D. W. Chaffin, a friend, police reported.

Albright was a World War veteran and a salesman. He had no relatives here. A coroner's inquest will be conducted this morning at the mortuary of J. Austin Dillon.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the graveside in Marietta National cemetery with J. Austin Dillon in charge.

Over night THE NEWS OF BAKED-IN FLAVOR SPREAD

Few products have had the almost instant acceptance that the South gave Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread. Three years ago when Merita announced this new loaf with a full, delicious flavor distinctly its own, women themselves spread the news more rapidly than we could ever have hoped to do. Here, they said, was a new kind of bread—a new conception of bread goodness.

One woman told another—grocers passed on the good tidings. Overnight the good news spread. Over night Merita Bread sales mounted with the universal acclaim of the new Baked-in Flavor Loaf.

Each year since then Merita Baked-in Flavor has continued to grow in popularity; until today, it is far and away the largest selling bread in the South.

Today, won't you make this test? No matter what brand of bread you are now using, try Merita Baked-in Flavor on your family for just one week. Let them decide. And, remember, Merita Baked-in Flavor costs no more than ordinary breads.

Merita Bread bears the Seal of Acceptance of the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR MERITA BREAD

Has "Baked-In" Flavor

BAKED-IN FLAVOR

Hundreds of women have asked us how Merita achieves its distinct and zestful flavor. The answer is a number of things: (1) Rich ingredients, properly balanced to produce a perfect loaf; (2) Careful supervision of the dough when it is rising so that it reaches the ovens at the peak of its flavor; (3) The dough undergoes a special twisting process that tends to retain the flavor in the loaf as it bakes; (4) Slow, expert baking in moist ovens. No one of these things would be enough—but the combination of all of them produces a loaf unique for its constant goodness. A loaf that truly deserves to be described as Baked-in Flavor.

CAR UNION SECRETARY PLACED ON TRIAL HERE

L. J. Adair Admits Shortage in Accounts Existed; Denies Taking Money.

L. J. Adair, financial secretary of the Atlanta Street Car Men's Union, went on trial on charges of larceny after trust yesterday in Judge E. E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court.

The secretary was indicted after an alleged shortage of $1,463.91 in his accounts had been reported. The trial was recessed yesterday afternoon and will be continued today.

Adair, taking the stand yesterday in his own defense, admitted that the shortage existed but denied that he had received or taken any part of this money. He declared he did not know how the discrepancy in his accounts occurred.

An almost unprecedented action was taken by one of the jurors while Adair was on the stand. The juror asked Judge Pomeroy if he had a right to question the defendant. The judge had just told Adair that no one, not even his own lawyer, could question him while he was making his statement.

However, Frank Hooper Sr., Adair's lawyer, and Assistant Solicitor E. E. Andrews said they had no objections to the juror's questions and Adair also consented. The juror asked several specific questions concerning previous shortages in Adair's accounts which the defendant had already admitted. The defendant answered the queries. The defense contended in addition that the union is a partnership and therefore Adair was a partner and could not steal money from himself. Solicitor Andrews argued that this law applying to partnerships in business does not cover associations such as a union.

The case probably will be completed today.

DEWBERRY BIRTHDAYS COUNT 3 IN TWO DAYS

It was open season for birthdays yesterday for the L. Glenn Dewberys, as another celebration will take place today.

Yesterday Mrs. Lelia Dewberry, mother of the superintendent of the city hall building, celebrated her 71st birthday, while Miss Evelyn Dewberry, secretary to City Attorney Jack C. Savage and Dewberry's daughter, observed her 28th birthday.

Today, Dewberry himself will reach his 54th milestone. He will act as secretary tonight at a meeting of the city democratic executive committee, having served as a member of that body for a number of years.

ROLLESTON HONORED FOR TORNADO RELIEF

Red Cross Chairman Praised for Work During Gainesville Disaster.

Moreton M. Rolleston, whose job as chairman of the Atlanta Red Cross roll call, suddenly changed to one of raising an emergency fund for Gainesville tornado sufferers, was given formal recognition for his efficient work at a luncheon of the Atlanta Red Cross chapter yesterday.

Willis J. Milner Jr., chairman of the Red Cross Georgia tornado relief committee, presented Mr. Rolleston on behalf of the Atlanta chapter an elaborately decorated book containing clippings of news stories of the disaster, relief work carried on under Mr. Rolleston's direction, scripts of radio shows put on in connection with the fund and other features of the storm relief work.

Rolleston reported a total of $174,436.99 brought in by the tornado fund campaign and gave members of the local chapter some high lights of the recent national convention which he attended in Chicago. Hearty congratulations were given Atlanta at the national convention, he said, for the splendid work done in connection with the Gainesville disaster in first aid and fund raising.

General James H. Reeves, president of the Atlanta chapter, presided at the meeting and praised Rolleston for his productive work as chairman of the Atlanta chapter tornado relief committee.

Mrs. A. L. Myers, chairman of the Braille committee, reported workers are now engaged in making a transcript of Ralph T. Jones' "Silhouettes in Rhyme," which will be sent to various institutions for the blind.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD.
MT. SAVAGE, Md., May 21.—(AP) When Thomas J. Arnold saw Thaddeus S. Van Meter's horse standing tied to a hitching post for two days, he decided to investigate. He found an aged man dead near by. The 70-year-old man apparently had suffered a heart attack and fallen off his porch.

Rolleston Given Gainesville Relief Book

Moreton M. Rolleston, chairman of the Atlanta Red Cross tornado relief committee, is shown at left looking over a memento of Gainesville emergency relief work with General James H. Reeves, president of the Atlanta chapter. The book was presented to Mr. Rolleston at a chapter luncheon yesterday in appreciation for his efficient work in raising funds for the sufferers. ALABAMA UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT TO RETIRE

Governor Graves Hopes Dr.
Denny Will Reconsider Decision.

TUSCALOOSA, May 21.—(AP)—The resignation of Dr. George H. Denny as president of the University of Alabama was announced today by Judge Henry B. Foster, university board chairman. Dr. Denny asked to be relieved July 1.

At Montgomery, Governor Bibb Graves said: "I'm sorry to hear it, and I hope it will not be accepted by the board."

"Dr. Denny has insisted that he would leave on July 1," Judge Foster stated. "Of course, he would be glad if he would not leave. The entire board feels that way about it."

The Alabama president gave his health as the reason for retiring, the judge said.

Successors Suggested.
Over 100 names have been brought forward as possible successors to the veteran proxy, Foster revealed, but he declined to mention any of them.

The university executive committee will meet here Saturday to consider the resignation and possible recommendation of a successor. On Monday the board of trustees will convene.

In a "home-coming" address on the university campus last fall, Dr. Denny affectionately known as "Mike" by thousands of students and alumni, stated he always would remain an Alabama citizen. It was understood here he planned to spend summers at a home on the country club property near Lexington, Va., and return to Tuscaloosa for the winters.

Native of Virginia.
Dr. Denny is a native of Virginia. He was born in Hanover county December 3, 1870, the son of a Presbyterian minister.

In 1912 he became president of the University of Alabama, after serving as head of Washington and Lee and Hampden-Sydney College. He found here four classical buildings and 400 students. Now there are 4,800 men and 1,000 women students, and 16 major buildings.

Dr. Denny is closely associated with the fame of the Alabama Crimson Tide on the football field. He was an avid fan and wherever the Tide played the proxy could be seen on the players' bench—puffing his pipe.

A year ago a report went abroad that he would retire, students demonstrated at mass meeting in protest.

McLEAN TRANSFER STIRS BRIDGES' IRE

Ousted Police Chairman Lays Change in Assignment to Personal Spite.

Councilman G. Dan Bridges, ousted chairman of city council, yesterday scored the transfer of Lieutenant Reggie McLean from command of the motorcycle squad to a morning watch in the field.

McLean is known as a friend of the former police committee head. Bridges anticipated further transfers, which he characterized as reprisals against him and his friends in a statement in which he asserted "I suppose everybody on the force in whose election or promotion I had any part will soon be able to hold a reunion in darkness on the morning watch."

The police committee has been succeeded by the newly created public safety committee, of which Alderman Frank H. Reynolds is chairman.

Reynolds yesterday asserted Police Chiefs T. O. Sturdivant and A. Lamar Poole are in charge of the department and its personnel and that the committee has ordered no transfers, but will back the chiefs.

WPA NEGRO MUSICIANS IN PROGRAM TONIGHT

A demonstration of the cultural effects of the WPA educational program for negroes will be given at 8 o'clock tonight at the Ebenezer Baptist church, corner of Auburn avenue and Jackson streets, when WPA trained musicians appear in a musical.

The affair is under the supervision of Herman McClain and participants will be representatives of nearly every WPA class in Fulton and DeKalb counties. A 200-voice chorus will form a background for solos, duets, trios and quartets. Piano and organ accompaniments will be provided.

TAX LIMITATION PLAN TO BE DEBATE TOPIC

Social Science Group To Hear Both Sides of Proposed Amendment.

Proposed 15-mill tax limitation will be discussed pro and con at the first meeting of the Georgia Academy of Social Sciences at the Biltmore hotel at 7 o'clock tomorrow night, Clarence M. Snyder, president, announced.

The discussion will be featured by a debate on the subject between Frank Carter, prominent Atlanta lawyer, and Tate Wright of Athens, executive secretary of the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia.

Carter will favor limiting taxes to 15 mills and Wright will oppose it. The question will be voted on in September as a proposed constitutional amendment.

Snyder said no decision will be made in the debate, as the meeting is for the sole purpose of informing the academy members on current topics. Other matters will be considered at subsequent meetings.

Open forum will follow the debate and the speakers will answer questions by the academy members. Later, copies of the addresses and the questions and answers will be printed, Snyder said.

"It is not our purpose to engage in politics," he asserted. "We want to know for ourselves what is best for us. We believe we can best accomplish that through careful analysis of the pros and cons of political and social questions." Dr. Comer Williams, of Emory University, will be in charge of programs for the academy.

ATKINSON UNOPPOSED IN RACE FOR SENATE

Savannah May Be Only Member of 1935 Session To Return.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—State Senator David S. Atkinson, of Savannah, may be the only member of the 1935 senate to sit in the upper house at the 1937 session.

Senator Atkinson has qualified for nomination and entries closed with no one qualified to oppose him.

In a number of senatorial districts, larger counties are given the right to elect a senator for two successive terms, the other counties one term each.

Chatham, Bryan and Effingham counties make up the first senatorial district.

W. M. Lester, of Augusta, was the only man in the 1935 session to come back for a second consecutive term. He represented the 18th district—Richmond, Jefferson and Glascock counties. This year it is Glascock's turn to name the senator. Leon L. Peoples, of Gibson, is expected to seek the office. Entries close June 5.

Unopposed for Senate

DAVID S. ATKINSON.

SOIL EROSION WORK MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Loy E. Rast Says Many Georgia Farmers Co-operating With Plan.

ATHENS, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—Rapid headway in the application of soil erosion control methods in Georgia was announced today by L. E. Rast, state co-ordinator.

Areas on which control practices are demonstrated total 238,726 acres and 1,804 farmers, whose lands aggregate 123,165 acres, are co-operating with the soil conservation service in checking erosion.

"Since the beginning of erosion control work in Georgia two years ago," said Rast, "the soil conservation service has made rapid headway in the application of various practices to control and prevent loss of soil from washing."

Initial control work began in May, 1934, on the Sandy Creek watershed near Athens. Four additional demonstration areas located near Americus, Rome, Gainesville and LaGrange, were developed later.

To stabilize hillsides more than 4,500,000 square yards of banks have been sloped and treated with vegetation. Approximately 8,000,000 trees have been planted to utilize soils too eroded for the production of other crops. Nine CCC camps are assigned to the Soil Conservation Service in Georgia. These camp workers are doing erosion control work near Athens, Villa Rica, Washington, Sparta, Buford, Stevens, Pottery, Lumpkin, Buena Vista and Monticello.

TEXTILE MEN LAUD, ATTACK FEDERAL ACTS

Institute Head Says Industry Crippled by Voiding of NRA, Guffey Bill.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 21.—(UP)—The clearly defined line of demarcation drawn through ranks of businessmen on federal attempts to regulate industry was emphasized today before the 36th annual convention of the Georgia Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, of New York, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, appeared before the convention to point out that invalidation of the NRA and Guffey coal acts had "closed one avenue of assistance" to the textile industry.

A few minutes earlier, however, John C. Gail, of Washington, associate counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, had rejoiced in invalidation of the Guffey act and NRA.

"The supreme court rulings seem to indicate," he said, "that by next January the Wagner labor act also will be nullified as unconstitutional."

"If let alone, business will work out its own problems as it has in the past."

Murchison, as spokesman for the gigantic textile industry, whose pay rolls support millions of Americans, referred to the recent supreme court ruling in light of its effect on the textile trade.

"Progress made in our industry under the code standards," he said, "in this connection, the invalidation of the NRA and the Guffey act has closed one avenue of assistance—that of federal legislation."

J. H. Cheatham, of Griffin, president of the Georgia association, stressed the growing menace of Japanese imports as he delivered his annual report to the convention.

"Japanese invasion of American business has grown in the cotton industry from 58,000 square yards in 1932 to 70,000,000 square yards in 1936," he said.

He advocated federal development of a working agreement with Japan and other "low-wage" nations to restrict the importation of goods, calling on association members to bring pressure on their congressmen for action.

Mayor Thomas Gamble, in welcoming the convention here today, said domination of business by the government was bad, but lauded President Roosevelt for "having stirred the national consciousness as no other President has ever done."

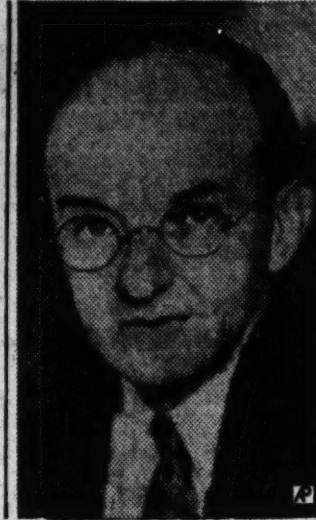

Mayor Gamble urged the delegates to endorse a proposed code museum at the Greene homestead site, several miles above Savannah, where Eli Whitney invented the cotton gin.

ATTACK ATTEMPT LAID TO TELFAIR NEGRO

MACON, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—Walter Lane, a negro just released from the Telfair county jail today for safekeeping after his arrest on a charge of attempting to attack a 10-year-old white girl near McRae.

Sheriff J. B. Walker, of Telfair county, said the negro fled when the child and her younger brother screamed for help.

A posse with bloodhounds trailed Lane to a near-by hiding place.

HARVEY REINDICTED BY U. S. GRAND JURY

G-Men and State Officers Both Will Hunt for Notorious Escape Artist.

ROME, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—A federal grand jury reindicted Leland Harvey today for bank theft and thus put federal agents on the search for the notorious prison breaker.

At Macon police sought two holdup men on the theory that Harvey, who fled a Troup county chain gang this week, returned to his old haunts there, as he has in the past.

The sheriff's office at Macon said it had information that a young woman acquaintance of Harvey left Macon mysteriously one night this week, presumably to meet Harvey at Canak, Ga. The office was silent as to details, and it could not be learned if there were any developments in the case at Canak.

The indictment here charged Harvey and his long-time partner in crime, Aubrey Smith, robbed messengers of National City Bank of Rome of $9,785 on August 4, 1934.

Harvey and Smith were convicted in federal court here, but a new trial was ordered for insufficiency of evidence. After that, the government twice pressed the case, and the two were indicted in state court and convicted.

Harvey was sent to Troup county, Smith to the state prison. Smith is not at liberty.

Officers throughout the state have been put on the alert to look for Harvey and Robert Williams, Meriwether county fugitive, who fled with him. A robbery at Macon spurred the search in that area.

PYTHIAN SISTERS SELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. Bessie McGahee, of Brunswick, Is Named Grand Chief.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Bessie McGahee, of Brunswick, was elected grand chief of the Georgia grand temple of the Pythian Sisters this morning at the closing business session of the annual convention here.

Valdosta was selected as the convention city for next year.

Mrs. McGahee succeeds Mrs. Gladys Torbett, of Columbus, as grand chief for Georgia.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Effie Chapman, Ludowici, grand senior; Mrs. Emma Dowell, Savannah, grand junior; Mrs. Frances Hannah, Augusta, grand manager; Mrs. Annie W. Sulter, Savannah, grand mistress of records and correspondence; Mrs. Annie, Savannah, grand mistress of finance; Mrs. Ethel Haupt, Savannah, grand protector; Mrs. Pauline Weiser, Waycross, grand outer guard; Mrs. Julian E. Brown, Savannah, grand press correspondent.

Mrs. McGahee appointed Mrs. Hattie Miller, of Brunswick, grand deputy for the year. The new officers were installed in a ceremony conducted by Mrs. Marion Woodberry, supreme chief of the Georgia association.

TWO GEORGIA PORTS ARE ALLOTTED FUNDS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Two Georgia cities, Savannah and Brunswick, will receive a $1,118,000 share of funds made available by the War Department for river and harbor projects.

Secretary Dern allocated a total of $137,866,989.70 yesterday for work during the fiscal year beginning in July.

The allotment for Savannah harbor is $945,000; for Brunswick harbor $173,000.

BENNING MANEUVERS TO DRAW MANY UNITS

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—A cavalry unit of 480 men and 400 animals, from the sixth cavalry, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., arrived at Fort Benning this morning after a march from the north Georgia post.

The cavalrymen are among the first of about 3,000 troops from posts in the fourth corps area to come to Fort Benning in the next few days for the staging of the annual eighth brigade maneuvers.

Members of the Twenty-second infantry, Fort Screven, Ga., also were expected to arrive soon for the maneuvers.

PRESBYTERIANS NAME DR. PRICE MODERATOR

Plea for Unity Is Made by Dr. Sweets, Retiring Moderator.

By RICHARD McMURRAY.
AUGUSTA, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—Dr. P. Frank Price, for 46 years a missionary to China, was elected moderator of the Presbyterian church of the United States tonight.

The grey southerner—born 71 years ago in Richmond, Va.—won after three ballots.

He defeated Dr. D. Clay Lilly, Reynolds, N. C.; Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, New Orleans; Dr. A. Little, Meridian, Miss.; and E. T. Miller, St. Louis.

Dr. Henry H. Sweets, retiring moderator, urged unity tonight in solving social, political and moral problems of the day.

Preaching the opening sermon of the diamond jubilee assembly of the church, the Louisville, Ky., pastor said:

"There is great disunion in the political, industrial, social, moral and intellectual realms. There is not such unity of message and purpose and plan of the churches as the cause and the times demand."

The southern churches, assembled from 19 states were to consider proposals to unite the northern and southern branches of the church, split in 1861 during the War Between the States. It was here that the first general assembly of the southern branch was organized 75 years ago.

Dr. Sweets urged application of spiritual forces to current perplexities, deprecating the idea that most problems are "material and political."

This generation, Dr. Sweets said, lives in a confused and distracted world where many familiar institutions and ways of living are seriously in question. He said the very foundations of the social order are being assailed.

"Lawlessness, greed, oppression, selfishness, envy, jealousy, hatred, fear and war threaten our civilization," he said.

He conceded many efforts are being made to remedy conditions, such as "90 foundations of altruistic intent and purpose which have at their disposal more than $500,000,000."

The 300-odd pastors, elders and laymen assembled here from the states in which the Presbyterian Church of the United States thrives, will be addressed tomorrow night by Dr. Joseph A. Vance, of Detroit, moderator of the northern branch of the denomination.

"Presbyterianism in America prior to 1861—the year of the split—will be Dr. Vance's theme."

The assembly will have before it reports of several important committees and proposals on various church and social problems.

Considerable attention was centered on the report on the ad interim committee on basis of salaries of pastors and home missions.

FORD BUYS BRICK

Auto Magnate Acquires Savannah Home Material.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 21.—(UP)—Old Savannah brick recovered from the razed McAlpin home here, has been purchased by Henry Ford from C. G. Stegins, who recently bought the property on which the old residence is located.

Ford bought 125,000 of the brick and sent them down to his Bryan county property to be used in construction.

The brick are a type manufactured in Savannah many years ago and now are in great demand.

MRS. W. A. WALDROP, 85, DIES NEAR FLOVILLA

JACKSON, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—The death of Mrs. W. A. Waldrop, 85, occurred this morning at her home near Flovilla. A week ago she suffered injuries in a fall and did not respond to treatment because of advanced years.

Mrs. Waldrop was one of Butts county's oldest and most prominent women. The former Miss Ellen Nelson, she was the widow of W. A. Waldrop, a Confederate soldier. She and her husband were born, lived and died within a mile of the home that their grandfathers established when Butts county was created early last century.

For more than 60 years she had been a member of Sandy Creek church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. Beard Parks, of Chelsea, Okla., and Miss Bessie Waldrop, former postmaster at Jackson for many years, and a son, T. C. Waldrop, of Flovilla; a sister, Mrs. Amey Mackey, of Forsyth, and several grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Sandy Creek church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will follow in the family lot.

RITES AT BUENA VISTA FOR SHERIFF'S WIFE

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Annie Elizabeth Wiggins, 52, wife of Sheriff J. S. Wiggins, of Marion county, died this morning at the city hospital after an illness of a week.

Mrs. Wiggins, who resided at Buena Vista, was born in Marion county July 29, 1883. Before her marriage in October, 1906, she was Miss Annie Elizabeth Phelps.

Beside her husband, she is survived by a son, W. P. Wiggins, of Chattanooga; four daughters, Mrs. J. C. Hargrove, Brynville; Mrs. Noah Jordan, Mrs. Hansel Averett, and Miss Myra Wiggins, of Buena Vista, and three brothers, J. N. Phelps, Roanoke, Va.; W. M. Phelps, Chattanooga, and one sister, Mrs. W. W. Murphy, Columbus.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Buena Vista Methodist church. Interment was in the Buena Vista cemetery.

MAN, WIFE CELEBRATE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 21.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Reidinger celebrated their golden wedding anniversary today on a train en route from Memphis to their Tell City, Ind., home.

They left following a visit with friends here. They came to Memphis from Monroe, La., where they have relatives.

CHURCH PLANNED

SWAINSBORO, Ga., May 21.—(AP)—A building committee of the Swainsboro Methodist church has accepted plans for a new brick church. Rev. Charles G. Ernest, formerly of Savannah, is the pastor. Construction work is expected to begin shortly.

TATE ELECTRICIAN IS KILLED IN FALL

Rites Set for Today for A. L. Fricks, Victim of Pole Collapse.

TATE, Ga., May 21.—A. L. Fricks, 53, for the past 12 years an electrician in the employ of the Georgia Marble Company, was instantly killed this morning when a pole broke under his weight and fell across a railroad, his head striking the rail.

He is survived by his wife and six children.

Funeral services are to be held at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Unity church in Floyd county, with Rev. D. S. Patterson in charge.

BAPTIST PREACHERS FAVOR CODE OF ETHICS

Ministers' Council Defers
Adoption for Precise Wording.

ST. LOUIS, May 21.—(AP)—A 15-point code of ethics of Northern Baptist preachers was approved "in principle" today by members of the denomination's ministers' council meeting in connection with the Northern Baptist convention.

Because of disagreement over phrasing of some of the points, final adoption of the code, however, was deferred for a year. A committee was instructed to rewrite it to avoid what some members termed its "ambiguous" language.

"There was no theological or fundamental differences expressed over the code," said the Rev. Albert H. Gage, of Springfield, Mass., vice president of the council.

Rev. Gage said the council hoped to form the ministers of the church into a society similar to the American Medical Association and the American Bar Association.

To Raise Standards.

"We hope to raise the standards of our vocation—we say vocation because it is a calling," he explained, "and also help the ministers to work together and to help one another. Our primary interest is in the church, rather than ourselves, but a church rises no higher than its ministry. What helps the minister aids the church."

Among the 15 points in the proposed code were these:

"As ministers . . . we shall never place salary above service in thought or declaration."

"As leaders and examples in the community . . . we will carefully guard our good names and our conduct in all our relations with men and women."

Keep Confidences.

"A worthy minister will ever have listening ears to all the troubles and ills and perplexities of his people but his lips will be dumb as to repeating what he hears. It is unethical to repeat or pass on to others what has been said to the minister in confidence."

"A good minister is a servant of the community in which he resides."

"When a minister breaks with the generally accepted teachings of his church and denomination, the ethical thing to do is to offer his resignation, with an announcement of his departure from the faith."

Freedom of thought and interpretation do not justify infidelity to the truth to which a minister has solemnly pledged his loyalty and his allegiance."

2,200 to 5,000 Belong.

Other points relate to a minister's adherence to "highest ideals of Christian" ministry, adequate preparation for his task and relations with his church members and fellow ministers.

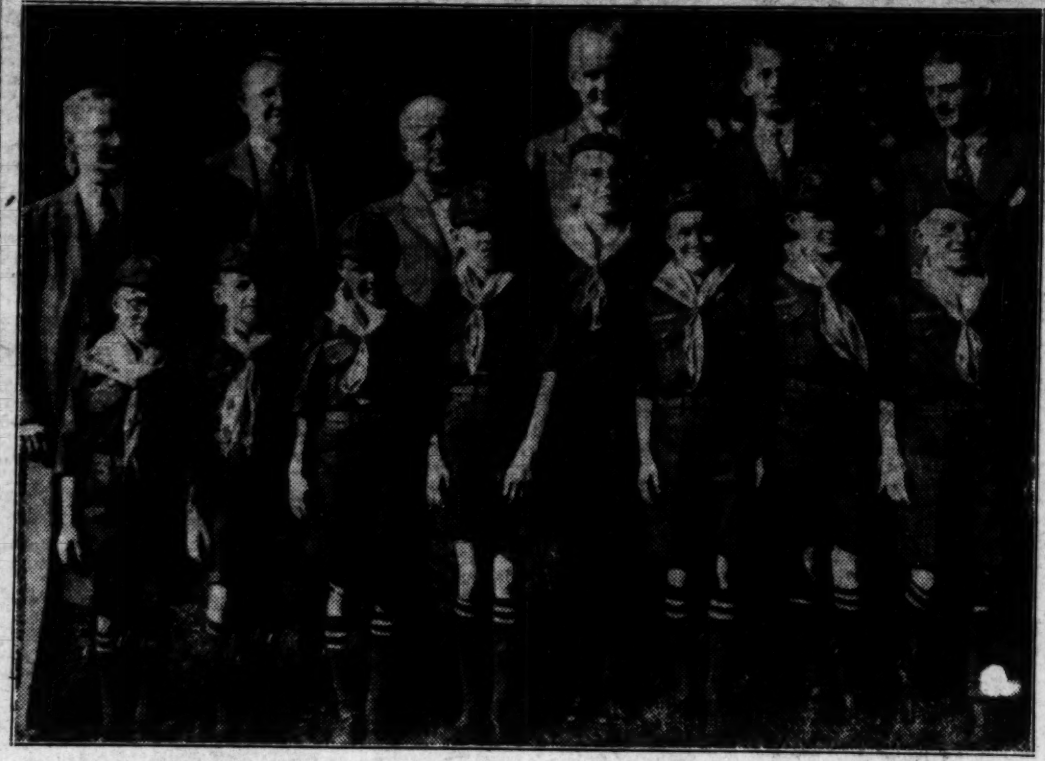

The Rev. R. G. Schell, of Chicago, is president of the council which now has 2,200 members of approximately 5,000 ministers in the denomination.

To be a member, a minister must be a regularly ordained minister in a church affiliated with the Northern Baptist convention, must have the approval of fellow Baptist preachers in his state and must have had three years' experience in Christian work.

MUST SERVE SENTENCE.

MIAMI, Fla., May 21.—(AP)—William Edward Hart, 59, was given a suspended prison sentence of 18 months for making illegal moonshine liquor. As he left the courtroom he cursed the officer who arrested him. Now Hart must serve his term in the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Kiwanians Supervise Installation of New 'Cub Pack'

The newest "cub pack" of the Atlanta Boy Scout council is shown during installation yesterday afternoon at Hillside Cottages with members of the Atlanta Kiwanis Club, sponsors of the organization. Shown standing back of the cubs are, left to right, Dr. L. H. Muse, chairman of the Kiwanis troop committee; Claude S. Bennett, chairman of the Kiwanis cottage; E. G. Beaudry, Sidney Lewis, Dr. W. W. Anderson and C. R. Stenhouse, cubmaster. The cubs shown in the picture are, left to right, Carl Fisher, Melvin Hamilton, John Frank Woolen, Ray Knight, James Holyfield, Clyde Morris, Thomas Campbell and Charles Blanchard, all in the new uniforms presented them by the Kiwanis Club. "CUB PACK" FORMED

Boys' Group Installed at Hillside Cottages.

Atlanta's newest "cub pack" composed of boys too young to be Boy Scouts, was installed yesterday afternoon at Hillside Cottages, on Courtland drive, under the direction of pack committee.

The cub pack at Hillside Cottages is sponsored by the Atlanta Kiwanis Club. C. R. Stenhouse is cubmaster and Ed Saunders assistant cubmaster. The pack committee is composed of Dr. Lewis H. Muse, chairman; Dr. Frank Lamons and Dr. W. W. Anderson.

The 16 boys of the new cub pack have passed their examinations, according to Dr. Muse, and are ready to carry out an active program of cub work in their "den" at Hillside. Not the least exciting feature of the organization was the presentation of official cub uniforms to the youngsters by the Kiwanis Club.

Meetings will be held every day by the Hillside cub pack instead of once a week, Dr. Muse said. Scouts from Troops 55 and 65 will direct the activities of the younger boys.

U. S. PLANS TO ENFORCE LIQUOR, ALCOHOL LAWS

More Than 500 Men Will Be Added to Revenue
Bureau.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Plans for a coast-to-coast drive by 4,500 officers to tighten up enforcement of liquor laws and the collection of alcohol taxes, were revealed tonight by the treasury.

Officials made known that 500 men would be added to the Internal Revenue Bureau's present force of 4,000, and that the campaign was expected to be fully under way before July.

Treasury Department spokesmen said the offensive would seek to draw a tighter net against tax evaders, bootleggers, moonshiners and other law violators. Additional men also will seek to provide a more thorough check on liquor and beer manufacturers and dealers throughout the country.

To the present internal revenue staff will be added 260 new inspectors, 126 storekeeper-agers, and more than 100 investigators. They will be assigned to duty in all 15 revenue districts, but with concentrations in specific areas where there is now a shortage of men.

New Investigators.

Officials said many of the new investigators will go to New York, Cleveland, Kansas City and San Francisco, and the additional gagers will be assigned to distilleries in Kentucky, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana and California.

Distillers are now producing 250,000,000 gallons of spirits annually, Stewart Berkshire, deputy commissioner of internal revenue reported. This is an increase of approximately 87 per cent over last year, he said, adding that the number of distilleries and plants under the bureau's supervision also had doubled.

Instead of having two or three storekeeper-agers at each distillery to check all spirits manufactured, Berkshire added, the tax unit has had only one officer. He contended a continuance of this type of supervision "is not safe."

The bureau now has 1,350,000 gages and 1,400 investigators to check on all activities of 109 whiskey, rum and gin distilleries; 158 brandy distilleries, 175 bonded warehouses, 800 wineries, 400 rectifying plants, 750 breweries, 40 alcohol plants, 4,300 manufacturers and dealers in industrial alcohol, and 6,000 hospitals and laboratories that use alcohol.

One problem still to be solved, officials said, was the stoppage of the diversion of industrial alcohol to bootleggers for sale as pure distilled liquor.

Distillers now have approximately 250,000,000 gallons of spirits in storage, Berkshire estimated, and a large part of the daily production is going into storage as a back-log for bottled into bond liquor four years hence.

'DRAFT LEHMAN' DRIVE HEADED BY ROOSEVELT

State Leaders Uniting Forces to Oppose White House Moves.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 21.—(UP)—President Roosevelt has personally assumed leadership of the drive to "draft" Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who has announced his retirement, as the democratic candidate for the November gubernatorial election, it was reported tonight.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley, national and state democratic leader, were expected to press the drive while in New York over the week-end.

Farley was scheduled to attend a conference of up-state leaders at Syracuse. Up-state leaders, generally, have urged the governor to reconsider his action.

Mr. Roosevelt has planned a short vacation at his summer home at Hyde Park, where his mother is suffering from a hip injury.

Lehman remained silent on the movement. He plans to go to New York city tomorrow, but does not intend to see the President.

His only remark on the "draft-Lehman" movement was that his retirement statement "speaks for itself."

The governor, it is known, made his decision to retire despite pleas by the President.

Meantime, state leaders were reportedly uniting their forces to oppose any move by New Deal leaders to "dictate" the party's candidate.

Some expressed belief a candidate named by the New Deal forces would be defeated, throwing New York's 47 electoral votes to the republican column.

Should Lehman decline the "draft"—and his close friends say he will—Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., of New York city, may become the candidate.

Bennett, it was recalled, was supported for the attorney generalship several years ago by Mr. Roosevelt in preference to several prospective candidates. He also has the support of Tammany Hall.

SHOLTZ TO NAME FLORIDA SENATOR

Successor to Trammell Will Be Appointed Early Next Week.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 21.—(AP)—Governor Sholtz said today he would wait until next week to name a successor to Senator Park Trammell who died recently.

Pressed with correspondence and callers at his office, the Governor said he had not had sufficient time to select the senatorial appointee.

"I expect to make the appointment the first part of next week," he said, but he declined to indicate who might be named.

Political speculation here has covered the names of about 50 individuals since Trammell's death.

LOANS TO BROKERS DECLINE DURING WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Loans on securities to brokers and dealers held by weekly reporting member banks in New York city, were reported today by the Federal Reserve Board to have totaled $960,000,000 for the week ending yesterday, a decrease of $3,000,000 for the week.

Loans for the corresponding week a year ago totaled $965,000,000.

Distribution for the week, with comparisons for the previous week and the corresponding week a year ago, were:

In New York city, this week, $918,000,000; previous week, $922,000,000; year ago, $906,000,000.

Outside New York city, this week, $72,000,000; previous week, $71,000,000; year ago, $59,000,000.

FIORENZA WILL FACE TWO EXPERTS TODAY

Defense Seeks To Prove Errors in Suspect's 'Re-enactment' of Killing.

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—With a 13-inch piece of string as the most important evidence, the state tonight prepared to close its case against a 24-year-old apprentice upholsterer charged with the murder of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, author and wife of a former Atlanta.

District Attorney William C. Dodge said he would call two twin experts tomorrow who would implicate John Fiorenza directly to the crime with the string.

The cord was found under Mrs. Titterton's body after she had been assaulted and strangled to death in her apartment April 10. Police said they traced it to Fiorenza.

The defendant listened impassively today as two homicide squad detectives testified he told them he attacked the woman and left her body in the bath tub.

Sordid Details.

Before a hushed crowd the detectives recited the sordid details as they said they had heard them from Fiorenza, but acknowledged the defendant had refused to sign a written statement.

Defense Counsel Henry Klaber contends Mrs. Titterton was the victim of a neighborhood "fiend," who had assaulted another woman in the same building, and while Fiorenza was not guilty his mentality was such he would "admit anything."

Klaber sought to show, in cross-examining Detective George J. Swander, that Fiorenza erred in some details when he "re-enacted" the crime.

The substance of Swander's testimony was corroborated by his partner, Detective James F. Hayden.

After tracing the piece of twine to the shop where Fiorenza worked, Swander said he took the apprentice to a police station for questioning.

Swander said he urged Fiorenza to tell him the truth and quoted Fiorenza replying at first:

"I can't tell you."

"If I was to tell you the truth I'd be putting myself on the hot seat. I can't tell you. I have to think of my mother and my girl friend." Later Swander said he admitted his guilt.

The detective recounted that Fiorenza told him how he returned to the Titterton apartment, which he had visited with his employer the day before to discuss repairs of a settee.

After the crime, Swander quoted him as saying he went to his shop, stopping on the way to telephone his employer and his girl friend, and finished repairing the Titterton couch.

His employer, Theodore Kruger, testified earlier he and Fiorenza had delivered the settee later in the day and discovered the body.

Fiorenza telephoned for the police, Kruger said, and after they arrived he stroled into the bathroom where the body still lay, for a drink of water. A policeman warned him not to touch anything in there.

HUB CITY DEB JOINS CREW OF STEAMER

Female Purser, Dubbed a 'Jinx' by Sailors, Says 'I Don't Believe It.'

BOSTON, May 21.—(AP)—A 22-year-old Boston debutante, enamored of the sea after she read "Moby Dick," signed on as purser of the excursion steamer Westport today.

She was Miss Louise Kimball, of Danvers, daughter of a Boston cotton broker, John T. Kimball, and Mrs. Kimball, newly elected president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Old seamen along the docks shook their heads dubiously as they heard the news. They expressed the plain opinion that Miss Kimball, a graduate nurse, and they said, the first "demon sailor" long this coast, would be nothing less than a "jinx" to ships.

Miss Kimball thought otherwise.

"First of all about that so-called jinx," she declared, "I don't believe in it, and I'm not superstitious. We'll prove it's wrong."

Miss Kimball, a descendant of Captain Philomen Putnam and Ann Bradstreet, the poet, has spent many years when a girl sailing off Ogunquit, Maine.

CRUISER IS LAUNCHED AT FORT RIVER PLANT

QUINCY, Mass., May 21.—(AP)—The United States cruiser Vincennes, a 10,000-ton vessel named after the city of Vincennes, Ind., was launched today at the Fort River plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

The new cruiser, a sister ship of the cruiser Quincy, launched here in June, 1935, is one of eight similar type vessels already built or under construction. It represents the latest in cruiser type ships.

MEALS OFTEN FAIL TO GIVE NEEDED INTERNAL EXERCISE

ALL-BRAN Relieves Common Constipation*

Meals that are low in "bulk" are a common failing of the average American diet. Frequently, these meals result in irregular habits.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" is often a consequence. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches and loss of appetite. Even serious disease may develop.

Banish the danger of a diet low in "bulk" by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. This delicious cereal is an abundant source of gentle "bulk."

Within the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which exercises and strengthens intestinal muscles, and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

Two tablespoons daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

How much pleasanter to enjoy this natural food in place of pills and drugs. Serve ALL-BRAN in some form each day, either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

VERDICT AWARDED IN LYNCHING CASE

Negro Family Given $2,500 Judgment Against Louisiana Sheriff.

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—(AP)—A federal court jury awarded a $2,500 judgment—described as the first of its kind on record—to the parents of a lynched negro today in a damage suit against a sheriff.

The verdict directed Sheriff Leslin H. Hime, of Assumption parish, and his surety, to pay the damages to Louis and Lilly Moore. Their 16-year-old son, Fred Moore, was lynched in 1933.

The Moores sued Hime for $10,000 charging him with negligence in failing to prevent the lynching.

The verdict was reached after a week of testimony, with the parents of the victim testifying to the details of the crime. The case was carried to the federal court because the parents reside in another state, Arkansas.

Fred Moore, accused of killing a white girl, was seized the night of October 11, 1933, and lynched near Labadieville, La.

R. B. Eleazer, chairman of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, said in Atlanta his records dating back to 1882 showed the case was unique.

"Investigation of scores of lynchings show officers have been responsible either through negligence or actual complicity," Eleazer said.

"When such is proved, the officials involved undoubtedly ought to be made to answer both to the law and the families of the victims."

25 PER CENT INCREASE IN INCOME TAX BEATEN

WISCONSIN, is expected to offer from the floor certain amendments designed to increase normal income taxes, reduce exemptions and increase surtaxes as a means of raising additional revenue.

Flushed with victory, the majority of the committee late today continued to consider the measure.

It decided to subject banks and insurance company earnings to an 18 per cent flat tax but to exempt this income from further taxation.

The bill proposed a 15 per cent flat income tax and graduated levies on that part of the income set aside in reserves.

Revised Measure.

As revised, the present measure proposes:

1. An 18 per cent flat tax on corporation earnings.
2. A 7 per cent tax on undivided profits.
3. All dividends to pay the 4 per cent normal tax, instead of a surtax as at present.
4. A $1,000 exemption on corporation incomes of $20,000 or less annually.
5. Strengthening of Section 102 of the revenue act to penalize unwarranted accumulation of reserves.
6. Abandoning the holding company provision of the house bill and tightening present restrictions against these organizations.
7. Exempting from taxation that portion of an insurance policy taken out to liquidate federal estate taxes which is paid into the United States treasury.
8. A more moderate "windfall" provision under which the government expects to recover $100,000,000 in unpaid or refunded AAA processing taxes.
9. Reducing the withholding tax on income from American sources that goes to non-resident aliens from Canada and Mexico from the proposed 10 per cent to 8 per cent.
10. Retaining the capital stocks and excess profits tax.
11. Imposing a flat 18 per cent tax on income of banks and insurance companies.

Burst Blood Vessel.

Emerging from a torrid session of the committee, his left eye almost closed from bursting of a blood vessel, Harrison explained:

"This agreement on corporation taxes does not go as far as the house proposition, but it embodies the essential of President Roosevelt's recommendations."

He said the compromise proposal would raise "a little over $500,000,000" and added that definite estimates had been called for from the treasury. The corporate tax set-up approved by the house would have raised $623,000,000 annually with rates ranging up to 42 1/2 per cent in undistributed surpluses.

Asked where the committee was going to find the additional revenue, Harrison said:

"I don't know. We haven't come to that yet."

George's Proposal.

The split in the finance group was evident as members met today under agreement to dispose of the controversial corporate tax provision. The committee easily agreed to the proposed 18 per cent flat rate on all corporate income and then turned to a proposal by Senator Walter George, democrat, Georgia, which would have taxed undistributed profits at the normal income tax rate of 30 per cent.

Administration followers argued this would not embody Mr. Roosevelt's recommendations and would not succeed in forcing distribution of an additional portion of corporate earnings. In face of this argument the George plan was adopted, 11 to 8.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, progressive, Wisconsin, then declared angrily that the minority and majority should write separate reports and carry the fight to the floor. Harrison stepped in as peacemaker and proposed the 7 per cent reserve tax which finally was adopted.

Harrison is hopeful the bill will be brought to the senate floor early next week.

LOCAL GAS COMPANIES URGED TO USE PRESS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 21.—(AP)—Executives of the country's leading gas companies meeting here today in the annual executive conference of the American Gas Association, approved plans for a three-year co-operative advertising campaign and urged local gas companies to back up this co-operative effort with strong newspaper advertising campaigns.

T. J. Strickler, vice president of the Kansas City Gas Company and chairman of the committee to conduct national advertising, recommended that in addition to the $500,000 annual co-operative advertising fund raised by the association, local companies should spend between two and three million dollars for newspaper advertising annually.

BIG PLANE CONTRACT AWARDED TO CURTIS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—The Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, of Buffalo, N. Y., a $750,000 contract for the purchase of 40 scout observation airplanes and their parts.

The planes are similar to the 135 machines delivered to the fleet under contract with the same company last year.

ATLANTA THEATER NEWS

Irene Dunne Versatile As Star of 'Showboat'

An exceedingly versatile Irene Dunne is seen in Universal's "Showboat" being held over at the Georgia theater for a week beginning today. Hereafter Miss Dunne has been described as "charming, and patriotic."

She gained these attributes with her performances in "Cimarron," "Back Street," "Roberta" and "Magnificent Obsession."

Now she will also be known as provocative, mischievous, and beautiful. Irene Dunne proves in "Showboat" she can make a dramatic scene throb with dynamic force.

Then she gave her songs the thrill of romance in her sequences with Allan Jones. She took on the personality of a winsome blond dancer in the Showboat scenes and sent a banjo over hurdles of harmony in the bargain.

But the great surprise was her appearance as a modern Topey. In blackface with heavy make-up, she danced with carefree abandon, played music that vibrated like jungle drums.

Miss Dunne said of her "Showboat" role, "It was such a satisfaction doing Magnolia on the screen. I had played it on the stage. The film script gave me new opportunities to carry the character beyond the period of the original production."

"The Ex-Mrs. Bradford" On Paramount Screen

Murder, mystery, comedy and romance are mixed as only William Powell mixes them, in "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford," the new program for the picture which Powell and Jean Arthur are to be seen, and which comes to the Paramount theater today for a week's run.

It is Powell's gift to just carefully while staring into a gun muzzle and would first place among screen sleuths in "The Thin Man" and "Star of Night."

His current R-K.-D. Radio film is reported to display this quality admirably.

The mystery builds on the apparently normal death of a jockey stricken while riding a favorite. Discovering it is murder, Powell gets in some of his neatest and most thrilling detective work in setting a trap among seven suspects—one of whom has covered a way to slay from among the victim's body to hint he did not die of normal causes.

The story was penned by James Edward Grant, author of "Whisper," "Muss 'Em Up," various magazine stories, and the syndicated column, "It's A Racket."

Contributing to the comedy is Eric Blore, who plays the sort of butler role in which he scored in "Top Hat." James Gleason, specialist in dry, boiled deliveries, plays a police inspector; Erin O'Brien-Moore, Ralph Morgan, Lucille Gleason, Lila Lee, Frankie Darro, Frank McHugh, Paul Fix and Dorothy Granger appear in other important roles.

The picture was directed by Stephen Roberts and produced by Edward Kaufman.

As an added attraction Paramount brings the latest issue of the "March of Time," showing the most important happenings of the world.

"One Rainy Afternoon" Opens at Grand Today

Loew's Grand theater will offer the first film made by the new producing firm, organized by two of the most famous personalities in pictures, Mary Pickford and Jesse Lasky.

The film is "One Rainy Afternoon," with Francis Lederer, Ida Lupino, Hugh Herbert, Roland Young, Erik Rhodes and Joseph Cawthorn. This merry, high-spirited romance of modern Paris starts today at Loew's Grand.

"One Rainy Afternoon" is concerned with what happens when a handsome young man kisses the wrong girl in a darkened moving picture theater. Francis Lederer plants the misdirected kiss upon Miss Lupino's lips and her indignation protests and a sharp slap on Lederer's cheek start a series of lively and very logical events.

Publicity makes the young man notorious throughout Paris as a "kiss burglar." He has been an actor, able to get only small roles, but the scandal which develops in the courts and the newspapers makes him a fascinating and sensational figure. Lederer is made a star and he sings a merry song, called "One Rainy Afternoon," in the new show. All the women in the audience are delighted, but Miss Lupino, the kissed lady, is most delighted of all.

Directed by Rowland V. Lee, "One Rainy Afternoon" is one of the most engaging comedies of the season. The skillful supervision of Miss Pickford and Lasky give the production a notable polish, and beautiful settings furnish colorful backgrounds.

Bette Davis at Fox In "The Golden Arrow"

Bette Davis, with George Brent playing opposite her in the masculine lead, comes to the Fox theater today in the fast-moving comedy drama, "The Golden Arrow."

Miss Davis appears in a role quite different from those which won her the award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the best film actress in 1935. In "The Golden Arrow" she gives a light comedy portrayal with a romantic twist, which involves also some dramatic moments.

Brent's role is also largely comedy, he being a shy young reporter, whose chief interest is a book he is writing about who finds time to fall in love with the blond Bette after a series of misunderstandings and flirtations entanglements which nearly break the course of true love.

The picture moves in swift tempo to the hilarious and surprising climax in which the young blond beauty proves a simple American girl whose yearning is for a real romance and the love of the one man to the world he met. Michael Arlen, the famous English dramatist, wrote the play.

In the east besides Miss Davis and Brent are included Eugene Pallette, Dick Foran, Carol Hughes, Catherine Doucet, Grant Reynolds, Ivan Lebedeff, G. F. Hunter, Jr., Frank Cavanaugh, Henry O'Neill and Eddie Acuff. Alfred E. Green directed.

M'ALESTER FUGITIVE GIVES UP IN DISGUISE

McALESTER, Okla., May 21.—(AP) Disguised after seven and one-half days of fleeing from bloodhounds and officers, Claude Beavers, singlefingered of last week's Oklahoma penitentiary break, surrendered meekly today and tonight was in solitary confinement.

Here I am, give up, Beavers shouted as "Old Boston," prison bloodhound, and five officers, led by Fred Daugherty, secretary to the warden, routed him from a clump of brush 35 miles southeast of here early today.

Beavers tossed away his two pistols and a rifle several hours before he decided to surrender.

Two of the convict companions, Julius Bohannon and A. C. McArthur, alone are at large of the 24 who broke from the prison May 13, killing C. D. Powell, brickyard foreman, wounding one guard and abducting two others.

"3 Live Ghosts" Plays For Week at Rialto

A story that won fame as novel and as stage play now comes to the screen in a version that, probably, outranks either of its former incarnations.

"Three Live Ghosts" is the title and it is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, booked for a week's engagement at the Rialto theater starting today. Richard Arlen, Beryl Mercer, Claude Allister, Charles McLaughlin, Cecilia Parker and Dudley Digges are some of the well known players to be found in the cast.

The story concerns three soldiers in the British army, captives in a German prison camp. They escape and come home, just before the armistice and find they have all been listed among the dead. One of them has and the third is so shell-shocked he has gone harmlessly crazy and doesn't know who he is.

They return to the home of one of the trio, a squalid little place in the slums of London. One, an American, is the object of a search by American police, with a $1,000 reward on his head. But he is the one who falls in love with the girl of the story. When he finds the girl is penniless, he offers to give himself up provided she gets one-half the reward.

And the story goes on, combining humor with pathos in exquisite proportion until a series of startling and thrilling events bring a denouement that is one of the cleverest and most surprising of the realms of fiction. Whether taken as a book, a play, on stage or on screen, have known.

With clever short subjects, selected with Manager W. T. Murray's keen eye, the new program at the Rialto should prove extremely popular.

"Desert Gold" Booked To Show at Capitol

Starting Sunday the Capitol theater will offer a new program both on stage and screen. The new feature picture will be "Desert Gold."

This story is a tale of a white man's treachery in his effort to obtain the last of an Indian tribe's wealth, is the basis for one of the most moving tales of the old west. It is a story that only a master craftsman like Zane Grey could write.

"Desert Gold" deals with a young Indian chief, abducted and tortured by a villainous mine promoter and saved from death by a young mining engineer. This rescue results in a lasting friendship between the young men, which proves of great value later when the engineer and his sweetheart are in danger.

On the stage in connection with this exciting picture will be a brand-new type of stage revue, "Stars Over Shanghai." There is a talented group of 25 stage and radio stars offering eight acts of vaudeville and featuring a big 15-piece stage band.

The current feature picture at the Capitol is "Snowed Under." The merry romantic comedy features in it George Brent, Patricia Ellis, Glenda Farrell, Genevieve Tobin, Frank McHugh and a host of others.

The present stage show is "Royal Palace Revue" and will be offered through Saturday night.

As an extra added attraction on the stage tonight the Capitol will present the regular contest in which a group of outstanding amateurs will compete for the three prizes offered.

PERKINS CITES GAINS TO WOMEN DEMOCRATS

CHESTERTOWN, Md., May 21.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins told Maryland's democratic women today the New Deal's program of planned economy had brought improvement in economic conditions over the entire country.

Speaking at the spring rally of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland, Miss Perkins reviewed the work of the Roosevelt administration and cited statistics which, she said, showed general improvement during his term. More than 400 women from all sections of the state attended.

CHURCH DRAMA CLUB PRESENTS TWO PLAYS

The Bouleaux, dramatic club of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Boulevard and Ponce de Leon avenue, presented two one-act plays last night in the Sunday school room. Several hundreds of women were present.

The productions, directed by Louise Peacock, were "The Trysting Place" and "The Governor's Dilemma," the latter written by William C. Hansen. The casts included the Rev. Peter Marshall, pastor of the church; Miss Peacock and Mary Powell.

ROOSEVELT LEADERS DISCUSS DELEGATION

which is to be in the selection of the convention slate, it was stated that the personnel of the Philadelphia delegation was not considered today beyond the preliminary stage.

Discussion was given to the number of delegates to go on the slate, however, and it is known that considerable sentiment developed for increasing the number of delegates at large from four to 12, with each given a third of a vote.

Too Cumberston.

Similar suggestions were made for increasing the number of district delegates, of which ordinarily there would be 40, or four for each congressional district, including two alternates, but national committee officials are said to have frowned on this on the ground that, if followed by every state, the convention would prove too cumbersome.

A final decision is yet to be reached on both propositions. Delegation members suggested the increase in an effort to take care of the large number of requests that have been made by Roosevelt supporters in the state to serve.

Rules by Committee.

Under the rules laid down by the state democratic executive committee at the time conditions for the preferential primary were set, the successful candidate was authorized to name the delegates personally. President Roosevelt alone having filed it will be left to him to approve or hand pick the slate, as he pleases.

Incidentally, Manager Allen late today returned the $10,000 check which the state democratic executive committee mailed to President Roosevelt recently, after receiving it in payment of the President's entrance fee. White House secretary Marvin H. McIntyre handed the check to Mr. Allen at the latter's hotel, endorsed over to the Roosevelt campaign committee.

Return to Contributors.

Asked what disposition would be made of the funds, Manager Allen said they would be returned to each individual contributor, most of the collection having been made with the understanding the money would not be used unless some one filed against the President in the Georgia primary.

"The President's friends over the state responded marvelously to our appeal for small contributions to raise the $10,000 entrance fee," said Mr. Allen. "A total of nearly $17,000 was sent in. It is now my intention to mail everybody a check for the amount of his or her contribution."

Manager Allen said he and Judge Lovett would probably return to the state tomorrow after further conferences with National Chairman Farney and the President. The White House conference has not been definitely set yet, but steps to this end have been taken.

YAKU INDIAN SLAIN IN DUEL WITH KNIVES

GUADALUPE, Ariz., May 21.—(AP) Death ended a duel between two tribesmen in this little Yaku Indian village today when Lorenzo Pena, 45, fell beneath his antagonist's knife.

His killer, a 32-year-old fellow Yaku, fled into the desert.

Officers said they were handicapped in their investigation by the traditional silence of the Indians.

When they arrived at the scene Pena's body had been placed in the center of a small clearing while men, women and children formed a circle, mourning, with chants, shouts and cries.

DEMOCRATIC PLANKS ARE PRAISED BY KNOX

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP)—Colonel Frank Knox, candidate for the republican presidential nomination, suggested tonight the principal economic planks of the democratic platform.

Similar suggestions were made for increasing the number of district delegates, of which ordinarily there would be 40, or four for each congressional district, including two alternates, but national committee officials are said to have frowned on this on the ground that, if followed by every state, the convention would prove too cumbersome.

Variety Features Array of Gifts Received by Seminary Graduates

By Sally Forth.

EVERYTHING from automobiles to pet turtles is listed in the category of gifts as the sweet girl graduates claim the spotlight today. Amid the beauty and brilliance of a bevy of belles receiving their diplomas on Wednesday evening from Washington Seminary, Sally discovered that graduation is fast rivaling Christmas as "gift-giving" time.

Ethel Erwin may be seen any day now cruising up and down the main thoroughfare in her beautiful new blue car, the color of which is a perfect foil for her blond beauty, while Mary Bailey finds time to use her gift make-up box to good advantage before driving around in her new black car of a well-known make.

Dice do not seem to be the only things that fall in sevens, for among other lovely presents, Mary Harrison received seven pocket-books and Margaret Rankin has seven exquisite compacts from her admirers.

It goes without saying that Harriett Fuller has many beaux, but one has openly declared she is his "turtle dove" (a popular and endearing term among the younger set). Following class night at the seminary, Harriett returned to her home to find that he had sent her two live turtles, each marked by name, "Percy" and "Lulu".

In addition, Harriett received many beautiful pieces of feminine apparel, to say nothing of an exquisite wrist watch, which brings to mind the fact that many of the other graduates have "time on their hands," so to speak. Watches were also received by Anne Atkins, Frances Hoyt, Anne Brumby, Helen Veach, Frances Burns, Marion Walker and Hazel Graham, of New Orleans. The Crescent City belle also received two purses exactly alike, a "tinkle-bell" bracelet, and last, but not least, the possibility of a summer tour of Europe.

The old country reminds Sally that Miriam Croft, in addition to receiving a handsome new boudoir set, also has a tour of Europe in store for her. With a party of the younger set who, among others, will include Anne and Mary Noble, the group sails on June 17 for Europe, where they will tour the principal cities, in addition to attending camp in Norway, enjoying a yachting trip on the North sea and a boat trip down the Rhine.

The following group of belles is well accustomed to telephone rings, but it will be some time before the thrill of their new diamond ring waxes for June Franklin, Alma Knight, Helen Veach, Barbara Green, Martha Crawford, Mildred Ewing, Margaret Rankin and Louise Connell. Jeannette Gilman has a beautiful diamond bracelet, while Marion Bell chose clothes and money as the reward for her diploma, and Jane Fambrough has one of those popular make-up boxes.

Tommie Quin says that her "big thrill" is a handmade bath-mat made by a faithful servant for "Miss Tommie's" graduation present, but Sally hears that one of the outstanding presents received by this young belle is the large and handsome black and silver frame from which gazes the photograph of a very handsome young man known as her most ardent admirer.

Almost everyone has a secret desire for something, and to Medora Flitten that means a hammock. So it was that that Medora received on graduation day, and now she says that she is going to spend the summer being lazy and enjoying a hammock under the shade of the old apple tree.

Antique jewelry was the lot of Mary Carver, who received a beautiful gold and diamond necklace from her mother, Mrs. C. W. Carver. The piece has a bit of sentiment, for it was given Mrs. Carver when as Bess Lloyd, of Chicago, she graduated from the Visitation Academy in Evanston, Ill. It was a gift from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lloyd, of Chicago. The late Mrs. Lloyd was the recipient of the necklace over 40 years ago when she received it from Mr. Lloyd.

It was impossible for Sally to glean any more information from the other graduates, for commencement night is such a big night that the rest of the girls in the class were so completely surrounded with friends and admirers that it was a case of "standing room only."

FRIENDS of Judy King will be delighted to learn that this charming Atlanta landed yesterday in New York following a three-month tour of the world. Sally last heard from Judy during her sojourn in Italy on the last lap of her journey to the four corners of the earth.

Leaving the Conti de Savioia at Naples, Judy saw the island of Capri, famed in romance and song; the Blue Grotto and Amalfi drive. While in Rome she witnessed the celebration attendant upon the capture of Addis Ababa and heard Mussolini speak (but as she confides, she has no idea what it was all about!). Following her audience with Pope Pius XI, Judy planned to visit Florence, Venice, Milan and Genoa, sailing from the latter place on May 13.

Before arriving in Atlanta on June 1, Judy will go to Devon, Pa., where she will show her famous string of horses at the spring show there.

'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME'

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

DESSERTS—YOUR WAISTLINE

MENACE.
The easy road to obesity is paved with good intentions and a varied assortment of carbohydrates. You get more calorie mileage out of a dessert than out of any other kind of food. Do you know how many calories would burn to walk to burn up the calories from one piece of cake? A slice of apple pie, four and one-half inches at the circumference, contains 300 calories. By going at top speed, five miles an hour, you could burn this number of calories in 40 minutes.

But, very few people walk faster than three and three-quarter miles per hour and at this moderate rate you would have to walk for an hour and 10 minutes to burn these calories. And if you added a scoop of ice cream to your pie and then amble along at two and six-tenths miles per hour, you would have to walk for an hour and 10 minutes to burn these calories.

Desserts come high in calories because, as a rule, they contain sugar, starch and fats—in other words, desserts are nothing but calories. It is the thin people who do not care for desserts. You may hear a would-be reducer announce that she never touches bread or potatoes, but did you ever hear of one who doesn't take desserts?

However, even desserts may be chosen with discrimination toward calories. The less fat a dessert contains, the lower it will be in calories. For example, angel food cake contains 150 calories in a three-inch section, while the same size piece of sponge cake carries 200 calories. In comparison, a two and one-half square of chocolate cake with icing contains 500 calories. Try and walk that off! It makes the calorie difference in these desserts.

Cream desserts, which are made without flour (starch) are less fattening than pastries. Here is a list, reasonably low in calories:

Dessert
Banana custard, 1-2 cup 133
Banana whip, 3-4 cup 100
Chocolate blanc mange, 1-2 cup 200
Vanilla blanc mange, 1-2 cup 200
(Chocolate sauce, 2 tbs. 130)
Baked custard, 1-2 cup 133
Ice cream, 1-2 cup 350
Sherbert, 1-2 cup 100
Prune whip, 1-2 cup 133

These desserts were calorie tested in the nutrition laboratory of Columbia University and the figures compiled by Dr. M. S. Rose and Clara Mae Taylor.

Back to pie: Lemon pie averages 100 calories per inch at the circumference, and apricot pie with whipped cream has the same value. Butterscotch pie with whipped cream contains 350 calories per four and one-half-inch section.

In general, a piece of pie will contain around 300 calories. A single pie crust, nine inches in diameter, contains 600 calories; a double crust, 1,200 calories. If you leave your pie crust, you omit 200 calories.

Of course, desserts cannot add to your weight unless they are in excess of your calorie needs. However, coming as they do at the end of the meal, desserts usually are in excess of the calories needed.

Culbertson on Contract

By E. L. CULBERTSON.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I am taking the liberty of sending you a hand for analysis."

"My partner and I (90 per cent. I) reached an optimistic, venerable, four spade contract, were doubled, and went down two tricks for a 500 point penalty. My partner criticized my play of the hand, saying I could have made it against the best possible defense. I have been breaking my head to discover whether this is true, but for the life of me can't see any chance of making 10 tricks. From my viewpoint I bid too much and should have been satisfied with a part-score."

"Please look the hand over and let me know whether my partner's statement was well founded. The diamond queen was the opening lead. Yours very truly, F. L. E."

This was the hand.

Pirate Club Members Entertain At Annual Costume Ball at Club

The Pirate Club, an exclusive social organization of popular young sub-dubbed entertained at its annual costume ball last evening at the Forest Hills Club. The club ballroom presented an attractive appearance with its elaborate decorations of paper mache elephants, caterpillars, snails and monkeys done in brilliant shades of pink, orange and purple. Myriads of grinning skulls and black and white streamers, trailing from the ceiling, added to the bizarre appearance of the scene, the decorations having been designed by Dan Dockstader.

The guests, who wore for the occasion the strange and colorful costumes of pirates bold, gained entrance to the ballroom by means of a sliding board. During the intermission at midnight, the organization elected officers for the coming year. As the announcement was made, the new president was presented with a white enameled pin and a grand march was held in her honor. The retiring officers are Miss Margaret Rankin, president, and Miss Ethel Erwin, secretary and treasurer.

A progressive dinner was held before the dance for the members of the club and their dates. The appetizer course was served at the Piedmont

Driving Club, with Misses Betty Yopp, Anne Adkins and Peggy Clarke as hostesses. The main course was served at a popular restaurant with Misses Mary Louise Sciple, Anne Woodruff, Anne Bell, Marion Bell and Peggy Roach as hostesses. Misses Frances Hoyt, Mildred Ewing and Dot Bagwell served the salad course at Miss Hoyt's home, and for desert the group repaired again to the Driving Club with Misses Virginia Willis, George Dargan and Elizabeth Fuller as hostesses. Coffee was served at the home of Miss Elizabeth Colley on Club drive.

Following the dance, the members of the club were hosted at breakfast at the home of Miss Elizabeth Colley on Club drive.

For Misses McNair.

Misses Jewell and Dorothy McNair, brides-elect, will be the central figures today at the party to be given by Mrs. Frank Terrell at her home in West End. Gifts will be presented to the two honor guests by Misses Frances Terrell and Jane Cantrell, who will act as flower girls in the forthcoming marriage of the Misses McNair.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

Lillian Mae Patterns

FESTIVE FROCK—EASILY MADE—GIVES CHOICE OF FASHION CONTRAST.

Pattern 4018. Dedicated to coolness and charm is this dainty afternoon frock which you can make in a jiffy if you choose this charming Lillian Mae model. And not one bit of style has been sacrificed to its simplicity of making. Rather does it gain in chic by the very deft cut of the yoke and sleeves in one, while the front bows supply the dressy flippity you look for in a summer afternoon frock. A delightfully different effect may be achieved by the use of a contrasting color of the yoke-sleeves—so that you're two frocks from the same pattern. They're ever so easy to make, especially with aid of the Lillian Mae step-by-step sewing instructions included with the pattern. Ideal in silk or cotton.

Pattern 4018 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32. Size 16 takes 3-8 yards 30-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly name, address and style number.

BE SURE TO STATE SIZE. Order your copy of our Lillian Mae summer pattern book today! Learn how to make cool, smart clothes and plenty of them—for home wear, vacations, parties, play in the sun. A Cologne That Will Lift You Up

Pleasantly, Mentally and Physically (The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, endorse or manufacture any cosmetics.)

By MIGNON. There is nothing that gives one the sense of elegance that can be derived from a good toilet water rub after the bath. Eau de cologne is the favorite of many, but they have even taken to perfuming cologne, have even, leaving those with the lemony fragrance for the use of men.

I have found a very good cologne for you which is exactly strong enough, but is without that pungent odor to which many people object. It doesn't smell like a mixed garden of flowers either, but has a very distinct fragrance that is delicately lovely.

It is a strange thing about colognes and toilet waters, but unless you are using the wispy-wispy kind that is not strong enough to really do you any good, I suggest that you use this way: Fill one palm with toilet water and hold the other one under the faucet with either the hot or cold water running. Bring the palms together, holding them over your body, and rub or slap them over the skin. It will make you feel refreshed. A good fragrance also makes you feel rested, just by inhaling it. It is the old principle of smelling clean, bringing you back from a faint.

Anything that smells delightful lifts you up mentally, as well as physically. Why, I can't tell you, but that it does this, I know. This cologne I am telling you about is not strictly a new one, but it is certainly worth anybody's money and if you have overlooked it you had better try a bottle. You're sure to repeat on this one.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column please Mignon at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name and address need not be given. Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

Because my husband is the most precious member of the family, his sister comes to visit us frequently and takes charge when she is here. There is too much salt or pepper in the food, too little heat in the house, too much spent on clothes and too little on amusement. She does not hesitate to pass on everything and criticize what she disapproves. She actually had the nerve to say to me today when we started out for a drive, "Mother is sitting on the front seat with Brother and we are sitting with me in the back seat." I am very fond of my mother-in-law and she is welcome to sit where she pleases but I heartily resent the sister taking charge. She has spoken to my husband about it and he replies, "You take things the wrong way." If you can tell me how to put a stop to this bossing she does, I will be eternally grateful.

MRS. C. D.

Answer: You should tell your husband that either he or you is going to call the hand of this self-appointed critic and autocrat and that you think it will come with much better grace from him, but if he refuses to do it, you will take the responsibility. Certainly there is no excuse for a visitor's taking such liberties in any home, regardless of the relationship she bears to host or hostess. There is one comforting thought in connection with the job of putting her down: If her sensibilities are so dull that she doesn't see the bad taste of her attempting to run things, she will be embarrassed by your rebuffs. Neither will she desert from her present critical attitude unless your husband gives her to understand that he is behind you 100 per cent.

A man's attitude toward his wife pretty well determines the treatment his family gives her. If he discounts her, they will. If he sets her up on a pedestal they don't dare pull her down.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

TAX COLLECTIONS REACH CITY RECORD

Municipality Enabled To Reduce Current Deficit To About $500,000.

Record tax collections have enabled the municipality to reduce its cash current deficit to about $500,000. It was announced yesterday by B. Graham West, city controller, who asserted that the city has turned $2,823,000 cash into local trade channels within the last few days.

It also was said that the city will meet its first pay roll of the current year in cash on June 5.

Payments have been made as follows:

To banks for replacement of loans advanced by the financial institutions to meet pay rolls, $1,600,000.

To retire scrips issued for November and December, 1935, salaries for employees, $800,000.

To retire registered bonds and pay interest on them, $229,000.

These payments leave about $100,000 still due on pay roll loans and $400,000 due to merchants and supply dealers for purchases made since January 1, this year.

Cardinal Helps When Nerves Seem "On Edge" Every Month. Women who find themselves in a painful, nervous fix, suffering every month, may have some functional trouble which Cardinal should benefit.

"At times, I felt like I must scream if a door slammed or there were an unusual noise," writes Mrs. E. A. Odum, of Haines City, Fla. "I did not feel like doing my housework and as I did other work besides, I felt more like lying down. A friend of mine asked me to try Cardinal, which I did. After my first bottle, I felt much better. I continued taking it until I had five bottles. By this time I was so much improved I was able to leave my bed."

Burial will be in West View cemetery.

My Story By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Wednesday.—"Great Theater" is undoubtedly the expression of the heart and mind of the people. Playwrights and actors are interpreters of the thought and feeling of their time.

Last night I saw a play I feel sure would have meant a little 20 years ago. It was written by a young man acted by a new group of young actors and actresses, fresh and original both in writing and acting. Crude in a way, because the thoughts hit you like hammer blows, it still is a great performance.

"Buy the Dead" will long be remembered by anyone who sees it. Its strength lies, I think, in the fact that it is the expression of the thought and feeling of thousands upon thousands of people today.

The men killed in the war, but who will not stay buried, speak the growing feeling among the people, that the waste of youth in wars is senseless. That exhortation of the general's, the pleading of their women all in vain! The dead must come back to savor the things that seemed good to them in life and to make others realize that it is senseless to live, begging for food and turning up one's coat collar to keep out the wind.

I venture to say there are two great waves of thought and feeling sweeping over us today—one is the desire for peace—the others is the determination that life shall be made more worth living for the masses.

It is a glorious, cool day and I spent an hour this morning at my grandson's school watching the rehearsal of their final program. He met me at the door, escorted me up and showed me everything with great pride. I must say that these youngsters, ranging from four to eight, have really done some very good work.

"Let Your Stars Guide You"

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.

"What chariot, what horse, against us shall ride, While the stars in their courses do fight on our side?" —SHAKESPEARE.

Enrico Leide, grand opera symphony conductor, founder of Atlanta Symphony in 1921, composer of symphonic works soon to be published, was born in Italy, educated in Italy, France and Germany. He was born May 24, uncovers the zodiacal sign Taurus, the sign that gives music as a natural heritage. Mercury's position in the chart centers the mind and the ambitions upon the world of music. Mercury, well aspected by Jupiter, gives depth to the mind and makes

Don't Be Fat!
says
IRENE RICH
Lovely Lady of the Screen

"Eat Sensibly—Drink Welch's Grape Juice"

HERE, at last, is a SAFE way to reduce. A way that does NOT call for strict dieting, exercising, or taking drugs. A way that actually increases your mental and physical energy as pounds of ugly fat seemingly melt away.

Please read carefully: In a recent test, held under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, 14 people who were gaining at the rate of 1½ pounds a month, followed this method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds a person in a single month—WITHOUT STRICT DIETING OR EXERCISING.

What You Do
Now, all you have to do is this: Mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water—and drink before each meal, and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—and this is what happens.

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your normal craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to over-eat fattening foods—yet you do feel comfortably satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy—and, most important, helps nature to burn up excess fat.

"Gives Quick Pep and Energy"
"Red" Woodworth, All-American Star and Coach at Morgan Park Military Academy, says: "Welch's Grape Juice gives my boys strength and energy without adding health-destroying fat. The minerals and vitamins are valuable in helping to build red blood, strong bones and teeth. I recommend it for all growing children and athletes. I have also found it excellent between meals as a quick energy pick-up-drink for children and grown-ups."

Miss Henderson Weds Ed Fain

Miss Winifred Henderson, of Apalachicola, Fla., became the bride of Ed Fain, of Atlanta, at a quiet ceremony taking place yesterday at the Sacred Heart church. The Rev. Father Edward McGrath read the marriage service which was witnessed only by members of the two families.

Pink and white peonies and roses filled the altar vases, and cathedral candelabra holding lighted white tapers completed the decorations for the occasion. Miss Lucile Mace was the bride's maid of honor and Sam F. Lucchese served as Mr. Fain's best man.

Miss Mace was gown in white silk crepe with which she wore a white hat and accessories and a shoulder spray of pink roses and valley lilies. The lovely bride chose for her occasion a three-piece suit of white woolen worn with white hat and accessories. Her flowers were gardenias and valley lilies.

Mr. Fain and his bride left for a wedding trip to Florida and upon their return will reside in Atlanta.

Mrs. Fain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henderson, of Apalachicola, Fla., and a sister of Mrs. Ralph Jones, of Atlanta. She was educated in Florida schools and completed a training course at St. Joseph's infirmary.

Guy lived in a penthouse apartment well downtown and though Hugh offered to take him to his room, he insisted upon being dropped off some three squares short of that point. "It's Christmas and time for dinner and I'm hungry," he said, grinning. "When I've satisfied the inner man, I'll clean up the outside. Thanks for the lift. I'll drop back by the hospital in an hour or two and if there's anything to report, I'll call you."

When they had let Guy out, Kate said, thoughtfully, "I'll never understand that boy. He can be as pleasant and engaging as you could ask when he feels that way. When he doesn't he's plain ugly. Some one told me—Bret, I think—that Guy didn't shed a tear the night his father died. She checked herself, looked up: "You knew about it?"

"Suicide pact, wasn't it?" "That or murder and suicide. They hadn't lived together for a year or two. Pretty sordid, the whole business. Imagine being worth $23,000,000 and then sliding off to eternity and leaving the whole of it to a perennial sophomore like Guy."

Hugh shook his head. After a little he said, "I saw the gun that did the job. Walter Kellogg had it up in his office. It looked for all the world like an ordinary flashlight, but if you held it up in front of you the way you would a flashlight and pushed the snap, you got a bullet in your chest. He had a collection of firearms worth about half a million."

Suddenly Kate gripped his arm: "Hugh—I've just thought of something—something terribly important. . . ."

Guy was within half a block of his apartment building when he saw the small black car parked at the curb before the door and recognized its insignia. Instantly he wheeled, walked rapidly in the opposite direction and turned the first corner at little less than a trot.

His brain functioned clearly. He knew now what he would do and how he would do it. He had three telephone calls to make. He decided to begin with the Long Island airport.

Leeze sat in the booth on the mezzanine and shouted at the mouthpiece: "Where's Cran, you lug? Do you think I want to spend my life hanging around a hotel lobby while you two—"

"Shut up!" Guy's voice was like a slap in the face, sharp and stinging. "Listen to me now and no wise-cracks. Cran's on his way back to Washington to tell your mother we're married. . . ."

"Married!" her voice suddenly all laughter. "How romantic! Where—when—"

"Get your luggage or whatever you've got and be at Thirty-fourth and Broadway in 10 minutes. Leeze. Everything's arranged. But you've got to step on it. There's a plane waiting on Long Island to take us places."

"Married, married, married. . . . Leeze's heart sang as she raced for the elevator. "Me—married!" She had never really thought of it before. Not seriously. Not where Guy was concerned. She hadn't thought he was the kind. You just went on going with a man like Guy, fighting him, hating him, never happy with him but utterly miserable away from him.

Hugh and Kate ate merrily, talking little. They were both thinking of Val, wondering whether something deeper than loyalty had held her there at the hospital. Since last night Kate had suspected Val was in love with Cran, but Hugh was simply puzzled and confused.

They were back in the living room when Kate asked lightly, "Can you tell me what happened between you and Val? . . . I'm not simply curious. Hugh. Val been in a low frame of mind since I came back and I'm trying to diagnose the difficulty."

The question caught Hugh off guard, but after a moment he told her evenly, "Nothing happened. Not in the sense that there was some active conflict. We both discovered—about the same time for argument—we'd been chasing rainbows."

"In other words, you both thought you were in love with each other and then you both had a great awakening and realized it was all a pretty dream?" She was watching his face closely.

Hugh nodded. "Something like that."

"And you ask me to believe that?" He did not answer; nor did he look her. The telephone brought Kate to her feet.

It looked for all the world like an ordinary flashlight, but if you held it up in front of you the way you would a flashlight and pushed the snap, you got a bullet in your chest. He had a collection of firearms worth about half a million."

Suddenly Kate gripped his arm: "Hugh—I've just thought of something—something terribly important. . . ."

Guy was within half a block of his apartment building when he saw the small black car parked at the curb before the door and recognized its insignia. Instantly he wheeled, walked rapidly in the opposite direction and turned the first corner at little less than a trot.

His brain functioned clearly. He knew now what he would do and how he would do it. He had three telephone calls to make. He decided to begin with the Long Island airport.

Leeze sat in the booth on the mezzanine and shouted at the mouthpiece: "Where's Cran, you lug? Do you think I want to spend my life hanging around a hotel lobby while you two—"

"Shut up!" Guy's voice was like a slap in the face, sharp and stinging. "Listen to me now and no wise-cracks. Cran's on his way back to Washington to tell your mother we're married. . . ."

"Married!" her voice suddenly all laughter. "How romantic! Where—when—"

"Get your luggage or whatever you've got and be at Thirty-fourth and Broadway in 10 minutes. Leeze. Everything's arranged. But you've got to step on it. There's a plane waiting on Long Island to take us places."

"Married, married, married. . . . Leeze's heart sang as she raced for the elevator. "Me—married!" She had never really thought of it before. Not seriously. Not where Guy was concerned. She hadn't thought he was the kind. You just went on going with a man like Guy, fighting him, hating him, never happy with him but utterly miserable away from him.

Hugh and Kate ate merrily, talking little. They were both thinking of Val, wondering whether something deeper than loyalty had held her there at the hospital. Since last night Kate had suspected Val was in love with Cran, but Hugh was simply puzzled and confused.

They were back in the living room when Kate asked lightly, "Can you tell me what happened between you and Val? . . . I'm not simply curious. Hugh. Val been in a low frame of mind since I came back and I'm trying to diagnose the difficulty."

The question caught Hugh off guard, but after a moment he told her evenly, "Nothing happened. Not in the sense that there was some active conflict. We both discovered—about the same time for argument—we'd been chasing rainbows."

"In other words, you both thought you were in love with each other and then you both had a great awakening and realized it was all a pretty dream?" She was watching his face closely.

Hugh nodded. "Something like that."

"And you ask me to believe that?" He did not answer; nor did he look her. The telephone brought Kate to her feet.

INSTALLMENT XL

Guy lived in a penthouse apartment well downtown and though Hugh offered to take him to his room, he insisted upon being dropped off some three squares short of that point. "It's Christmas and time for dinner and I'm hungry," he said, grinning. "When I've satisfied the inner man, I'll clean up the outside. Thanks for the lift. I'll drop back by the hospital in an hour or two and if there's anything to report, I'll call you."

When they had let Guy out, Kate said, thoughtfully, "I'll never understand that boy. He can be as pleasant and engaging as you could ask when he feels that way. When he doesn't he's plain ugly. Some one told me—Bret, I think—that Guy didn't shed a tear the night his father died. She checked herself, looked up: "You knew about it?"

"Suicide pact, wasn't it?" "That or murder and suicide. They hadn't lived together for a year or two. Pretty sordid, the whole business. Imagine being worth $23,000,000 and then sliding off to eternity and leaving the whole of it to a perennial sophomore like Guy."

Hugh shook his head. After a little he said, "I saw the gun that did the job. Walter Kellogg had it up in his office. It looked for all the world like an ordinary flashlight, but if you held it up in front of you the way you would a flashlight and pushed the snap, you got a bullet in your chest. He had a collection of firearms worth about half a million."

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

The common idea that a laboring man needs a great amount of meat for energy is all wrong, according to Dr. L. J. Rogers, who shows in his fascinating book, "Diet and Personality" that energy is not derived chiefly from meats, but almost exclusively from starches and sugars. Meats contain proteins which are used for growth and repair of tissues, but not ordinarily for energy. Laborers require much more starch and sugar than other men, but more meat is not necessary. In fact, it has been demonstrated that people can live without any meat, and enjoy good health. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.)

V—Growth of the Colony.

Not long after Roger Williams started the Providence colony, he had another chance to prove the kind of a man he was. He learned of a plan among the Indians to rise against the whites of New England.

Portrait of Roger Williams.

The Pequot Indians of Connecticut were leaders in the plan. They wanted the Narragansett and Wampanoag tribes to join them in a great attack. Since Williams had so many friends among the Indians, it would have been easy to have his own little colony—but what of Boston, Salem and Plymouth?

Most of the rulers of those colonies had been harsh toward Williams. They had driven him away in the cold of winter. What if he should now let them suffer their fate at the hands of thousands of warriors?

In Roger Williams there was no spirit of mean revenge. More than that, he was willing to risk his life to save those who had been cruel to him. Boarding a canoe, he paddled through rough waters until he reached ed the wigwam of a Narragansett chief. There he found messengers of the Pequots, who were trying to get the Narragansetts to join them.

The white man boldly spoke to the Indians. He asked his friends not to take part in any such war. For "three days and three nights," he stayed among the Indians. "Diet and Personality" that energy is not derived chiefly from meats, but almost exclusively from starches and sugars. Meats contain proteins which are used for growth and repair of tissues, but not ordinarily for energy. Laborers require much more starch and sugar than other men, but more meat is not necessary. In fact, it has been demonstrated that people can live without any meat, and enjoy good health. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.)

As the months and years passed, news spread about the colony of Roger Williams. People learned that they could go there and enjoy freedom in religion. Among the new settlers were some Quakers, who had found the doors of other colonies shut against them.

White people started new little villages near Providence. One of these was on Aquidneck island, and was started by Mrs. Ann Hutchinson and her followers. Mrs. Hutchinson had had trouble in Boston about her views on religion. With her husband and about 30 other persons of Baptist or Anabaptist faith, she traveled overland to Providence, then went to the island.

During the later years of his long life, Williams did little or no preaching. He earned his living largely by carrying on a fur trade with the Indians. In the year 1654, during a visit in England, he obtained a new charter from the government to cover the towns of Providence, Portsmouth and Newport.

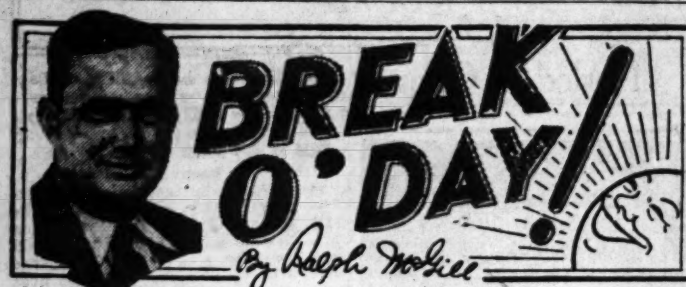

The little group of towns, and the land around them, later came to be called "Rhode Island."

Riddles, games and puzzles will be found in the "Funmaker" leaflet. If you would like a copy send a 3-cent stamped return envelope to me in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Travelers Take Advantage of Cracker Errors To Win Opener

WEST POINT, Ga., May 21.—It will be a very great relief to the many friends of Mr. Charlie Yates, the western amateur golf champion, to learn that Mr. Yates has at last engaged a singing teacher.

Those who admire Mr. Yates, for himself alone, have learned to sit in silence while Mr. Yates renders some song from limb to limb in a voice which roams the musical scale from tenor to bass and back again.

Mr. Yates was in West Point today for a golf match. With him were Miss Dorothy Kirby and Dr. Julius Hughes. They were joined by Mr. Lafayette Lanier, formerly of Georgia Tech's golf team. It was quite a foursome, including as it did the western amateur champion; a competitor in the coming national open in Dr. Hughes and a former state champion in Miss Kirby.

The West Point Rotary Club entertained the guests at its regular luncheon today. Another guest was Mr. John Drury, a Fairfax High school boy who has won all the oratorical cups in the vicinity and who now is being groomed for a place on the concert stage.

Mr. Rube Jennings, of this city, being a philanthropic gentleman, engaged Mr. Drury to teach Mr. Yates. Mr. Drury guarantees to have Mr. Yates sticking to one classification on each song and not sing tenor, bass and contralto on each one.

As for John Drury, some radio station seeking new talent to exploit, might take him on because he is on the way. But at that I hope they do not sign him until he has been of some slight help to Mr. Yates, our western amateur golf champion.

THE GOLF COURSE.

The West Point golf course is presided over by Al Leacy, as professional. Mr. Leacy came here seven years ago to remain for three months. And now, I judge, if Mr. Leacy leaves at all it will be just ahead of a committee urging his departure. And that won't happen. They like Al Leacy.

It seems he has been able to make the West Point golfers shoot sixes instead of sevens and fours instead of sixes. His three months were up almost seven years ago and he hopes to put in the remainder of his life here.

The course is a beauty. It contains 3,300 yards of tough golfing terrain for a par 36. The first three holes are more than 400 yards long and each has a par of four. There are two three-shot holes and two fives, the remainder being fours.

A number of the holes are beautiful ones, the ninth in particular being 365 yards of beautiful trees, grass and a terrain that slopes down and then up to the green.

For Miss Dorothy Kirby it was a visit back home. West Point is her old home, she having been born here not so many years ago. She is very popular here, as in Atlanta.

ONE WITH KINGS.

It has been written that a cat may look at a king. But when tomorrow morning comes your reporter expects to have a warm feeling of kinship with King Edward VIII, the former Prince of Wales.

King Edward and I will be drying with the same towel after our morning shower. I do not mean the same towel actually but only figuratively.

Mr. Rube Jennings, on escorting our party through the mills at Fairfax, just a mile from West Point, disclosed the fact that the mill supplies his majesty, the Prince of Wales, with his bath towels.

Not only that, but Mr. Jennings procured for me one of the Prince of Wales towels. This gives the shower more meaning. I am sure that Edward's shower curtain is perhaps a little newer than my own. When will I think to get a new one? And perhaps his soap may be another brand.

But when Edward VIII steps from the shower and reaches for his towel then we will be even. Having just one is of some disadvantage. There must be times when the towel will be at the laundry. And on this his highness will have me. There's the rub.

The machines are positively astounding. There was one which seemed to be able to count, pick out colors, paint pic-

Georgia Stars Seek Olympic Semi-Final Tryouts; Walker Out.

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—(AP)—If conditions are favorable tomorrow and Saturday on the Loyola University cinder path here, up to a half dozen new records may be set in the Southern A. U. Olympic tryouts which have attracted competing stars from eight southern and southwest states.

Records appearing to be in danger were those in the 110-meter hurdles, 800-meter run, 400-meter hurdles, the pole vault, hop step and jump and the javelin.

Although Perrin Walker, Georgia Tech's sprint champion, was not entered, there were other fast ones to try for Emmett Toppino's marks of 10.6 seconds for the 100 meters and 21.2 for the 200.

Among these were Harvey Wallender, from Texas, and Eddie Daigle, of Loyola. Also Bobby Packard, of Georgia, junior national A. N. 200-meter champion, will try for the Loyola sprinters record in the event.

A great race was anticipated for the 110-meter hurdles record of 14.5 set by George Fisher, formerly of L. S. U., and in which Forrest Towns, of Georgia, equaled the world record of 14.1 in the Southeastern meet in Birmingham.

These runners and their marks will have on their heels the flashy Al Moreau, former L. S. U. ace who has done it in 14.2, and Johnny Morris, former Southwestern L. A. star.

"Slate" Hardin, of L. S. U., will try to better his southern record of 54 seconds for the 400 meters, while Ted O'Neil, of Texas, will compete against Wayne Rideout, of Alabama, for O'Neil's mark of 1:53.8 in the 800-meter run. The Alabamian has been timed in 1:54.

Billy Roy, of Loyola, will try to better his pole vault mark of 13 feet 5-8 inches in competition with such vaulters as Arnold Bryan, of L. S. U.

SIDNEY BOWMAN. Competing against such entrants as Roland Romero, national champion, Sidney Bowman, of L. S. U., may better his hop, step and jump of 40 feet 7-12 inches.

The mighty Jack Torrance may not beat his shot-put of 53 feet 3-8 inches but he is in shape for a big heave.

Grover Huppel, from Florida, is entering the junior and senior high hurdles and Stuart Snedeker, of Maryville, Tenn., is coming to run in the 5,000-meter heat.

Because it is examination time the Louisiana State Southeastern conference champions will not enter as a team but individual players will compete.

The Texas Centennial team, boys from the Dallas district, are entered 18 seniors and 17 juniors strong.

The most will decide entrants in the semi-final Olympics trout at Harvard June 26-27.

KIRBY, YATES TIE HUGHES, LANIER

WEST POINT, Ga., May 21.—It was one of those well-known golf matches which ended in a dogfight down at Riverside Country Club here today as Charlie Yates and Dorothy Kirby finished just like they started against Julius and Lafayette Lanier, a former Tech star and now an assistant superintendent of one of the West Point Manufacturing Company's mills.

The scores were: Yates 75, Hughes 77, Kirby 82 and Lanier 82. Soundly somewhat high, but all the players made some exceptionally good shots.

Miss Kirby played one from behind a clump of very tall trees to within a foot of the cup.

The course is really one of the finest nine-hole courses in the south. Par is 36 and there are no crimp par 5s so common to most layouts. Under the splendid care of Al Leacy, the club's professional, the course is in fine condition in spite of the continued drought, prevalent over this section. The greens hold a pitch nicely, while the fairways have a nice stand of grass.

Numbered in the gallery could be seen such personages as George Lanier, president of the West Point Manufacturing Company; Frank Williams, agent of the company and a very fine golfer; Rube Jennings, superintendent of the Lanett Mills; Willis Johnson, executive vice president of the Citizens Bank & Trust Company; E. F. Cook, president of Watson, Cook & Co., along with many other interested spectators, many of them members of the Rotary Club, which sponsored the gala event of the day, including a luncheon at which Ralph McGill was the principal speaker, followed the golf match.

Joe Gould, manager of the champion, wired Palazola, who wanted to stage the title bout Labor Day, that Braddock would have to defend his title in New York.

NEW YORK, May 21.—(UP)—James J. Braddock rejected an offer today of $100,000 from Promoter Tony Palazola, of San Francisco, to defend his heavyweight title against the winner of the bout between Andre Langlet, of France, and Phil Brubaker, of California, tomorrow night at San Francisco.

Andrus' Homer Climaxes Big Pebble Rally

Bill Andrus, a north Georgia farmer in off-seasons, climaxed a big fifth-inning Traveler rally by hitting a home run with two on in the fifth inning yesterday. The Little Rock third-sacker hit one in the republican stands off Ralph West, who relieved Bayne. Andrus is shown coming home. Jim Galvin, Cracker catcher, is in the background, while Matt first baseman, of the Pebs, is extending the right hand of fellowship. Staff photo by George Corbett.

Only Georgia 'Cracker' Is Attracting Attention

Ralph West, of Senoia, Impresses As Relief Pitcher for the Champions.

By Jack Troy.

Billy West, secretary of the Birmingham Barons, recently was asking about Ralph West, of Senoia, right-handed rookie pitcher and the only Georgian on the Cracker roster.

"We had a chance to get West before the Crackers did," he said. "How is he looking?"

Billy West wore a rather woebegone expression when he was informed that Ralph West was a most promising prospect and was, perhaps, a year or two, at the outside, away from being a real star.

Since then many people have been asking about Ralph West, whom the Crackers secured from Portsmouth in the Piedmont league.

A WHIP CRACKER. The Senoia boy reminds you of a fellow popping a whip when he delivers the ball. He has speed and an assortment of curves. And with it all, he has control.

The Crackers have not been using West in a starting role. He has been working strictly on relief. And he has been great in this department.

When the Crackers ran into trouble in the second night game at Little Rock, West relieved Schmidt. He gave up only four hits in the last five innings.

They were scattered hits—actually—and not the baseball player's interpretation of scattered hits.

SCATTERED HITS. When one suggests that a pitcher was hit rather hard but kept the blows scattered, a ball player will reply: "Yeh, they were scattered, all right. Some in the park and some out of the park."

Ralph West has been in there several times as a relief pitcher for the Crackers this season and has proven most effective.

The only Georgian on the roster is a star in the making. If experience comes, can fame be far behind?

The Georgia boy has a fine pitching build and an arm of steel. He can effectively whip that baseball in there, either at night or in the daytime. The opposition has discovered he is no "soft touch." He is the whip Cracker of the champion Crackers.

West had a bad inning yesterday but that was nothing; the Crackers had a couple of 'em.

TONIGHT Little Rock 1:30 P.M. LADIES FREE

Andrus Hits Homer In 8-to-4 Victory

Thomas To Face Cy Moore as Teams Play Again Tonight.

By Jack Troy.

Those Atlanta Crackers apparently were exposed to too much wet weather on their recent 14-day road trip. For they showed a tendency to crumble at crucial moments as Doc Prothro's Little Rock Travelers took the opening game of the series, 8 to 4, yesterday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park.

They ought to be crisp again by tonight, however, for it has been some time since any moisture has descended on Atlanta. Bud Thomas will oppose Cy Moore, the Elberton (Ga.) boy and a former Tech freshman, at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The first night game of the season, being ladies' night, is expected to attract a crowd of better than 10,000.

The Crackers got away to a fine lead in the early innings yesterday when infield errors and timely hitting worked against Kola Sharpe. The Crackers had a lead of 4 to 0 going into the fourth. And Billy Bayne, hard luck left-hander, had been invincible.

CRUMBLE IN FOURTH. It was in the fourth that the Crackers started to crumble. Johnny Kerr, new Pebble acquisition, singled, to start it off.

Nonnenkamp hit to Bayne, who threw wide to second, pulling Chatham off the bag, and all hands were safe. Trent, new Feb left fielder, forced Nonnenkamp, with Kerr taking third.

Then Deal grounded out to Hooks and Kerr scored on the play. Bill Andrus, a Georgia boy whom the Crackers address as "Elephant Ears," hit sharply to Johnny Hill. Douglasville Johnny threw low to Hooks. And the Pebbles continued from there.

Malay singled to right, scoring Trent, and Gibson singled to left, sending Andrus home. This put the Pebbles within striking distance, and they put the game away in the fifth when four hits, including Andrus' homer with two on base, and an error, accounted for five runs.

The first two runs were strictly unearned. Kola Sharpe singled. Kerr fled out. Then Nonnenkamp singled to right-center. Hamel let the ball get away and both Sharpe and Nonnenkamp scored. And the Travelers went on from there, as before.

ANDRUS HOMERS. Trent singled and Billy Bayne left the game. Ralph West came in to face deal. He hit Deal with a pitch and Andrus came up. The north Georgia farmer, playing third for the Pebs.

AVERAGE PRICE.
NEW ORLEANS, May 21—
 (Per cent) —The price of middling cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 11.56 cents a pound.
NEW ORLEANS, May 21—
 In a dull featureless market, cotton futures traded within very narrow price limits today and closed net unchanged to four points higher.

The gain continued to the new crop months, came on a minute spur of trade buying, some short covering and a little long liquidation.

The market was steadied at the start by better-than-expected cables, but the opening was practically unchanged from yesterday's closing prices.

There was the gain of a point here and there and the opening of the market became restless and except for October, which advanced a few points on interment buy orders, there was hardly any activity until the final hour.

Traders showed little interest, and found no incentive in the day's news. No comments on the Smith bill in Washington.

The speculators left the traders little to feed on besides the improved Liverpool market and the weather, which, with the exception of the Gulf and the eastern belt, has steadily favored the new crop.

The spot market reflected a falling tendency, but demand was lively for prices. Sales, however, were reported in fair volume.

Port receipts today 7,758; week 88,000; month 323,000; season 1,877,641; last season 1,835,065. Exports 12,000; week 76,734; season 5,375,176; last season 4,115,088. Stock on shipboard at New Orleans 1,429,000.

and Galveston today 45.22; same day same 48.582. Sales at southern ports today 9.794; same day same year 8.806.

COTTON ADVANCES

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.——Cotton was steadier today on trade buying and covering. October sold up to 42.42 and closed at 41.41 with the general market already, not unchanged to points higher.

Exports today 13,734, making a total for the season of 5,944,926. Port receipts 3,757. United States port stocks 1,803,605.

The Liverpool market made a steady advance before the local opening, helped by reports of cotton being sold on the more favorable weather and crop advices from the south. Houses in Liverpool connections were credited with having sold a large portion here during the early trading, but they were also selling orders here from abroad which may have been partly against the local market. A detailed weather report showed some scattering showers in the eastern belt, but they were slight at most stations, and while the week was further scattered or occasional showers, the general view was considered rather disappointing from the standpoint of recent selling.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN No. 125

As the pygmy warriors discussed the strange advent of the giant they had captured, they heard the uncanny noise of a weird cry, such a cry as they had heard occasionally all during their lives, sounding mysterious and awe-inspiring from the distances of the jungle.

Never, however, had they heard it so close. It sounded almost in the village. Their fears were confirmed by Tarzan's guards, who ran to them, wide-eyed and breathless. "It is a demon we have captured!" they cried; "has changed himself into an ape. Did you hear?"

Tarzan, of course, had no power to transform his body, but in truth he had voiced that weird, blood-curdling cry which was the ape-call of distress. That was circumstantial evidence of sufficient strength to convince the pygmies that the giant possessed magical powers.

"Let us go and kill the creature," said Nyalya, who because of his bravery had been chosen temporary chief of the cannibal pygmies; "no matter what it is, we shall be safer when he is dead." "True," agreed a haughty little warrior, "and our stomachs will be fuller."

"Let us go and kill the creature," said Nyalya, who because of his bravery had been chosen temporary chief of the cannibal pygmies; "no matter what it is, we shall be safer when he is dead." "True," agreed a haughty little warrior, "and our stomachs will be fuller."

Tarzan, of course, had no power to transform his body, but in truth he had voiced that weird, blood-curdling cry which was the ape-call of distress. That was circumstantial evidence of sufficient strength to convince the pygmies that the giant possessed magical powers.

FLOOD CONTROL BILL APPROVED BY SENATE

Measure Providing for $384,000,000 Is Returned to House.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—A $384,000,000 omnibus flood control bill was hammered through the senate today and returned to the house, where it originated a year ago.

"This is the first porkless flood control bill in the history of the country," declared Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, who handled the measure after passage had been effected by a voice vote.

Carrying authorization for 216 flood control projects, the big measure would require the affected states and localities to share the cost with the federal government, paying for land and construction damage costs.

Included also was authorization for President Roosevelt to select the projects he felt should be initiated first under the $50,000,000 to be made available the first year.

Beaten down by a 55-to-15 vote in the drive for passage was an amendment by Senator Bilbo, democrat, Mississippi, to require the federal government to carry the entire cost of the sure. Sidelined also was a "rider" to create a national resources board of five members to make surveys looking toward a broad conservation plan. The rider was returned to committee.

Conference Is Seen. Senator Copeland forecast the house would insist on its provisions and that a conference would be held next week between representatives of the two chambers. Friends of the measure said there was little likelihood of a White House veto.

Almost simultaneously, the house voted a more than hundred-million-dollar increase in another flood control measure already passed by the senate.

By a vote of 78 to 36, house members agreed to increase the cost of the Overton bill for flood control projects on the lower Mississippi from $272,000,000 as it passed the senate to $384,000,000. The added authorization would provide for the construction of 26 reservoirs on the Arkansas and White rivers.

In the battle over the omnibus bill Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, who led the opposition to Bilbo, asserted on the floor that "in my opinion the bill will not become law if the amendment is adopted."

Copeland, Bilbo, said, "If you want a bill, Copeland shouted, 'that amendment must be killed.'"

Bilbo promptly jumped up to assert that Copeland was employing unusual methods, and was resorting to a "veiled threat" of a veto rather than facts.

The Mississippians were supported in his drive by Senators Guffey, democrat, Pennsylvania; Clark, democrat, Missouri; and Davis, republican, Pennsylvania, among others.

They contended severely that unless the Bilbo amendment was adopted the measure would be "unsound and impractical."

In reply to Copeland's "kill the amendment" cry Bilbo said he had no information from the White House as to a possible veto, but that even if he had it would not stop him from acting on his own judgment.

"I don't know but what I'd rather say 'let's defeat the bill' than to pass it with this local contribution clause," Bilbo asserted, adding that even if the President vetoed the bill, congress could still reconsider it.

Increase in Costs Seen.

Backers of the plan to have states and localities pay a share estimated that acceptance of the Bilbo proposal would add about $100,000,000 to the obligations of the federal government. Bilbo contended, however, that "not even an Einstein" could calculate the exact amount of the contributions states should make.

"We are starting on the highway to spend $12,000,000,000 on flood control," Bilbo argued. "Let us start right. Let us fix the responsibility of the beneficiaries. The benefits will accrue to every man and woman and should be paid for by the entire nation and not saddled on this section or that."

Later, Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, secured the approval of the senate to an amendment permitting dam construction to commence as soon as the site is acquired without waiting for lands for the reservoir to be secured.

The senate turned down, 52 to 11, a proposal by Senator Guffey, democrat, Pennsylvania, to make the federal government pay the cost of relocating railroads and improved highways in building flood control projects.

MRS. DUKE VICTOR IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

Woman Whose Suicide Attempt Freed Mate From Gang Leaves Hospital.

Victorious in her battle against death, Mrs. Nell Wheelock Duke, 27, of 615 Jackson street, College Park, whose attempted suicide won a parole from the Fulton county chain gang for her husband, was dismissed from Grady hospital yesterday.

The dismissal climaxed a fight against death which began last March 23 when Mrs. Duke fired a .32-caliber bullet into her abdomen after writing a note in which she said, "I can't stand this life any longer. I can't have Bill when I love him so much."

She was taken in an ambulance to the home of her mother at 503 Capitol avenue, there to join her husband, William Lawrence Duke, and their 5-year-old daughter, Betty, who was playing across the street when the young mother sent the bullet into her body.

When hospital and other authorities learned the reason for the young woman's attempt to end her life, the husband was brought to her bedside from the Ben Hill prison, where he had served all but a month and 29 days of a 12-month sentence for possession of worthless checks.

A short time later he was paroled. Meanwhile, Mrs. Duke hovered between life and death, but blood transfusions and emergency operations finally put her on the road to recovery.

OGLETHORPE TO HONOR STATE SCHOOLS' HEAD

Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, has been named by the alumni and board of directors of Oglethorpe University to receive the medal for distinguished service offered to the alumnus performing the most conspicuous service to the university or to humanity.

The medal will be presented during the 17th commencement exercises of the university Sunday night at the Eulanger theater. It bears the coat-of-arms of Oglethorpe and an alumni citation on Dr. Collins' outstanding work for the schools of the state during the academic year 1935-36.

The winner of the award was selected by a plebiscite of the alumni. Dr. Collins holds degrees of bachelor of arts, master of arts and doctor of pedagogy from Oglethorpe University.

NEW DENTAL SOCIETY IS FORMED IN ATLANTA

A division of the Fifth District Dental Society was announced yesterday, with a charter granted to the new division, known as the Atlanta Dental Society. The district division followed the recent annual meeting of the Georgia Dental Association.

Officers of the new organization elected at the organization meeting include Dr. Frank Johnson, president; Dr. Green D. Warren, vice president; Dr. R. E. L. Tolbert, secretary, and Dr. F. W. Griffin, treasurer. The executive council is composed of Dr. Paul Key, Dr. Murray Hair, Dr. Roy Shaw, Dr. Stokes Piller, Dr. Harry Cohen and Dr. M. M. Forbes. Addresses were made at the meeting by several prominent Atlanta dentists, dedicating the new society to scientific study and research for the advancement of the dental profession.

HARVEY L. DAY RITES TO BE HELD IN MONROE

Funeral services for Harvey L. Day, who was reported by police to have ended his life by taking poison at his wife's bedside Wednesday, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon (central standard time), at Walker's chapel, Monroe, Ga., with the Rev. Eddie Caldwell officiating. Day, who had been out of employment for some time, was said by police to have left a note addressed to his brothers and sister in which he revealed his intention to take his life. No inquest will be held. The funeral cortege will leave the mortuary of J. Austin Dillon at 11:30 o'clock and the body will lie in state at Walker's chapel from 2 to 3 o'clock. Burial will be in Mills cemetery.

TALMADGE SETS ASIDE "WILL ROGERS WEEK"

Participation of Georgians in Will Rogers Memorial Week, May 22 to 28, was urged yesterday by Governor Talmadge. The Governor said in a statement: "This week has been set aside by the motion picture industry to pay tribute to the happy memory of that cheerful philosopher, Will Rogers, and it is a pleasure for me to cooperate in the national movement to perpetuate his usefulness."

"Everywhere in the United States, the theaters will celebrate the dedication of the Will Rogers Memorial hospital at Saranac Lake, N. Y. This is the gift of the motion picture industry and will henceforth administer to the ill and needy of Will Rogers' profession—the stage and screen. I urge all our citizens to join in the tribute to our beloved humorist and support the movement that will maintain and perpetuate this humane and worthy memorial."

BITES FOR CRASH VICTIM.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., May 21.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday for John Worthen, veteran pilot, killed in an airplane crash near Baton Rouge, La., Tuesday night. Worthen's body was returned here today and was at the family home.
